War At Sea Takes Toll Of Destroyers

This newly received picture shows a German mine washed up on the Danish coast during recent storms. The Nazis have contended that British mines, similarly torn from their moorings by rough seas, are responsible for the "unrestricted mine warfare" which has resulted in the sinking of belligerent and neutral merchant vessels alike off the English coast.

Heavy Gun Flashes and Diving Aircraft Off Southwest Coast of Norway Indicate Sharp Battle Being Fought in North Sea.

Sound of Cannonading Increases at Noon—Spectators Watch Firing — Speculation Rife That British Forces Catch Up With Deutschland.

By C. M. JAHN
British United Press. Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.

OSLO, Norway, Nov. 29.—Heavy gun flashes and diving airplanes off the southwest coast of Norway indicated a sharp battle was underway in the North Sea, according to naval observers.

Speculation centered on whether the British naval and aerial forces seeking the Nazi pocket battleship Deutschland had at last caught up with the sea raider as she sought to slip back to a German port, but marine observers who reported the battle refused to hazard a guess.

The sound of cannonading increased shortly after noon, but spectators at Stadt and other coastal towns said they could not definitely tell whether more naval units had joined in the battle.

The volume of firing indicated an increasing big engagement, however, and spread westward, according to telephonic messages from the coast.

Dispatches from Stadt said that warships and airplanes appeared to be participating in the battle. The craft were too far away to be definitely identified, but the roar of battle could be heard about noon, the messages said.

Increased aerial and warship activity had been reported by both German and British in the North Sea this week.

LONDON, Nov. 29—Naval circles said today they had no information of warship or airplane fighting off the Norwegian coast.

Here is a dramatic picture of the war at sea—the sinking and beaching of the British destroyer Gipsy off the coast of England after striking a mine. The Admiralty announced that 40 members of the crew were missing after the blast, which as this picture, radioed from London shows, apparently split the ship in two.

FIELD DAY FOR SCIENCE WITH NEW RECRUITS

Psychiatrists Will Try To Pick Best Airmen, Gunners, Etc.

By GRANT DEXTER
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Nov. 29.—The scientists are having a field day with Canada's new army. Not only are Canada's recruits being examined medically as never before—X-rays and all manner of clinical tests—but the psychiatrists have been called in. The psychiatrists will try to tell the national defence department how you can find the best airmen, the best tank men, the best signallers, the best navy men, the best gunners —in short to answer all the questions which the army chiefs can ask. They want to find these answers before the recruits don a uniform or sees the equipment which he will use in training and in fighting.

From a rough and tumble kind of army, in which men enlisted much as their fancy moved them, the Canadian army is rapidly becoming the most specialized force ever created and groomed for battle.

Russia Plans to Give Finland Ultimatum

Soviet Demanding Arms Removal 15 Miles Back

By NORMAN DUEUL
British United Press. Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 29.—Diplomatic sources reported that Russia was expected to send an ultimatum to Finland today. The ultimatum would give Finland 18 hours to withdraw her troops 12 miles from the Russian frontier on the Karelian Isthmus. In Helsingfors, it was announced today that Finnish troops had made no attacks of any character in Karelia and had nowhere violated the Soviet border.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Reuter's News Agency in a Moscow dispatch tonight said Premier Vyacheslaff Molotoff had declared in a Moscow broadcast that Russia has severed diplomatic relations with Finland. Molotoff was quoted as saying the Red army and navy must be prepared for any eventualities.

MOSCOW, Nov. 29.—"The Soviet government has decided to withdraw its political and economic representatives from Helsingfors and has ordered its troops to stand ready for any eventuality," Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslaff Molotoff said over the radio tonight.

Stalin Adds Reinforcements In Baltic

By HENRY SHAPIRO
British United Press. Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.

MOSCOW, Nov. 29.—Heavy reinforcements have been added to Russia's Baltic fleet, it was reported today by Pravda, official Soviet newspaper. The tempo of the Soviet-Finnish dispute reached war-like fury.

The Red army had announced that Finnish troops had made four more attacks on the Russian border, and the belief spread in well-informed quarters that anything short of Finnish capitulation to Russian demands, would mean war.

Diplomatic exchanges now were at the point where Russia was awaiting Finland's reply to the announcement by Soviet Premier V. M. Molotov that the Soviet-Finnish non-aggression treaty had been cancelled. That reply was expected today from Helsingfors. Russia's next step was a conjecture.

Russian public opinion had been whipped up to a fighting spirit against the Finns by a series of radio and press attacks charging that the present Finnish government was a tool of British imperialism and that the Finns were threatening to attack Leningrad, second largest Russian city, one of 3,500,000, only 22 miles from the Finnish border.

All indications in Moscow were that the time for a show-down on Russia's territorial demands against Finland was at hand. Finland's bold defiance of these demands, her rejection of a Russian protest against an alleged border incident Sunday, and the Soviet governments anger suggested that the door had been closed to any peaceful settlement as long as the present government of Finland's premier, A. K. Cajander, remained in power.

German Machine Downed

By WEBB MILLER
British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Nov. 29—A German plane was shot down this morning near the Northumberland coast of England. The plane was sighted flying off the coast. Several British Royal Air Force fighters went up to engage it. The plane was shot down after a short engagement watched by many people on the shore. Northumberland is on the northeastern coast of England, adjoining Scotland.

The plane fell into the sea about five miles from shore. Fishing boats went to the scene and armed guards waited at the docks for prisoners.

The Air Ministry's announcement that British planes raided the German North Sea island of Borkum has revealed that Britain is converting bombers into long range reconnaissance fighters. The Ministry announced last night, and it was confirmed in Berlin, that British planes had appeared over the Borkum air base, from where it is believed that Germany's mine-laying airplanes operate, and had machine-

Today's War Analysis

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
British United Press Cable Editor

RUSSIA'S drive to dominate Finland, by force or intimidation, may have an important bearing on the future set-up of Europe. The war in the west has given Josef Stalin his chance to gain a solid foothold in Europe from which it will be difficult if not impossible to dislodge him after the war.

The Russian shadow is creeping westward. Without the war, Stalin could not have attempted it. This is his great chance, and he is making the most of it.

The pattern seems plain. An agreement with Germany, born of Hitler's necessity for backing in the east, enabled Stalin to seize eastern Poland. He must have laughed in his sleeve when Britain and France condemn it as an act of aggression, as in Germany's case, but even mildly condemned it, on the ground that eastern Poland is mostly Russian anyway.

FINLAND BALKED

Next came the taking of parts of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia, accomplished with minimal ease. To give Russia complete domination of the eastern Baltic, however, Fin-

Not Forgotten Fund

Remember, There Are Soldiers In Hospital

Opens At Bulletin

Ladies and gentlemen, this is to re-introduce to you The Not Forgotten Fund.

Christmas is less than one month away and that means the Yuletide spirit is in the air. With the celebration of this season comes the re-opening of The Not Forgotten Fund, now a vital, integral part of Christmas in Edmonton and a feature in which each and every resident is interested.

Each Christmas it has been the custom of The Bulletin, to open its columns to receive donations to The Not Forgotten Fund. This fund is for one purpose and one only, namely, to provide a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year for those soldier patients at the University Hospital, still suffering from wounds and other disabilities received in action.

On their little white cots, 25 years after they enlisted to serve in the Great War, these "Fragments from France" are suffering pain resulting from serving their country. There was a Siegfried Line or a Siegfried Stellung in the Great War, of which the Hindenburg Line, Drocourt-Quean line, Buissy Switch and other positions were a part.

These men were there in smashing through. But they are paying for it now. This is the time to remember them.

The War Widows Association has worked in close touch with The Bulletin on this fund each year and will continue to do so on this occasion. As has been the case on many occasions, this organization has been the first to send in a donation. A cheque has been received from this association for $10 and therefore The Not Forgotten Fund is now open. Send your donation to The Bulletin and it will be acknowledged in these columns.

German U-Boat Men Laugh As Fishermen Take To Open Boats

LONDON, Nov. 29.—A vivid tale of 38 hours in an open boat after their fishing trawler was sunk by a U-boat was told by a survivor today.

"We were fishing northwest of Ireland when the submarine appeared and fired a warning shot," he said. "She came very close and her captain shouted to abandon ship. We hoisted out our two 20-foot lifeboats. The skipper and four hands went in one boat. I was in the other with five others.

Stalin Declares Allies To Blame For Great War

MOSCOW, Nov. 29.—Joseph Stalin tonight declared the Allies were responsible for the present war.

In a statement published in Pravda the Soviet leader asserted "such are the facts" concerning responsibility for the conflict:

"Firstly, it was not Germany who attacked France and England, but France and England who attacked Germany, thus assuming responsibility for the present war.

"Secondly, after the outbreak of hostilities Germany addressed France and England with peace proposals while the Soviet Union openly supported Germany's peace proposals because it believed and continues to believe that the earliest termination of the war would fundamentally alleviate the position of all countries and nations."

"Thirdly the ruling circles of England and France rudely declined both Germany's peace proposals and the attempts of the Soviet Union to attain the earliest termination of the war."

FORMER KAISER RENTS ESTATE NORTH OF OSLO

By H. C. BURMAN
British United Press

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 29.—It was reported today that former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany had rented a large estate near the town of Skoevik, near Lake Mjosem, about 60 miles north of Oslo, Norway. Norwegian authorities still deny any knowledge of reports that the former Kaiser is planning to come to Norway from Doorn, The Netherlands. The newspaper Tidenstegn said it understood that Wilhelm had negotiated to rent an estate which was believed either at Hoersbjoer, in Hamar, or at Hurdals, in Eidsvold, both north of Oslo. However, it was said the contract could be cancelled.

CANADIAN WAR LOAN WILL BE FLOATED SOON

British United Press

OTTAWA, Nov. 29. — The first Canadian war loan running 200 million dollars or more will likely be floated in January or February. Details of the new financing, necessary because of heavy war expenditures, are being discussed at the capital today. The biggest item being discussed is the Empire air plan. Emergency parliament voted 100 million dollars, and Finance Minister Ralston subsequently announced that expenditures for the first year would total 315 million dollars.

FOUR R. C. A. F. FLIERS KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Nov. 29. — Four members of the Royal Canadian Air Force were killed today when a twin-engined Oxford bombing plane crashed a half-mile north of the Trenton air base, near here.

The four killed were: Pilot Officers G. T. Maher, J. G. Lee, L. A. Clements and Leading Aircraftsman L. S. Stempie.

The bomber crashed about 10:30 a.m. M.S.T. near the Canadian Pacific Railway tracks outside Trenton. Military officials took charge immediately afterward and the public was not permitted to view the wreckage.

ELECTRIC APRONS COMBAT MINES

LONDON, Nov. 29—The British Admiralty has found the answer to the Nazi mine warfare by using "electric aprons" in mine sweeping the Sunday Dispatch said.

The electric aprons are really an electric "field" thrown from British mine sweepers to clear out fields of "magnetic" mines laid by German U-boats or dropped by parachute from Nazi planes, the newspaper said.

"The Admiralty electrical experts devised a means of throwing a powerful field of electric magnetic force some hundreds of feet ahead of the mine sweepers," it explained.

"This field or apron is controlled like a rat."

The newspaper said that the navy would soon have the magnetic mine situation under control.

BERLIN SHOPS CLOSE, RESULT OF RATIONING

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 29—A dispatch from the Berlin correspondent of De Telegraaf, influential Netherlands newspaper, today said Germany's rationing and control measures had resulted in the closing of scores of Berlin shops.

Late last week, the correspondent said, more than 100 shops, mainly candy stores, had closed because of an order calling for new inventories of stocks on hand.

In the big Berlin stores many departments are empty or closed to the public. Thousands of employees have been made temporarily idle, but since it is forbidden to discharge personnel they have been given the status of war industry workers.

CANADIAN RED CROSS CAMPAIGN GOES OVER TOP

TORONTO, Nov. 29—Canadian Red Cross headquarters here today announced the organization had gone "over the top" in its first war drive for $3,000,000.

Exact figures are not available, but word of additional donations was received from Alberta headquarters today and carried the Dominion-wide total above the objective. National Chairman Norman Somerville announced last night that $2,968,799 had been subscribed at that time.

The drive was aided yesterday by a donation of $150,000 from a Toronto man who refused to let his name be published.

ORDERS GIVEN WARSHIPS TO SEIZE GOODS

Royal Navy On Alert For Scheduled Start Of New Phase Of Blockade

LONDON, Nov. 29—Cryptic radio instructions from the Admiralty put warships on the alert today for the scheduled start of a new phase of the blockade against Germany Monday.

The mining of British waters, with numerous recent Allied and neutral shipping losses resulting, prompted Great Britain's decision to seize German exports as well as imports.

In conjunction with France, the Royal Navy was instructed to remove from any ship cargoes of German origin or ownership. Heretofore, the blockade has been aimed only at goods destined for Germany.

STARTING DATE

The starting date of the export ban was set for Monday to permit neutral readjustments. It was understood that goods brought in Germany before Nov. 27 would be exempt, even though not yet at sea.

The Times said the blockade would be applied "with the greatest possible regard for the interests of neutrals — which in the long run are also British interests."

(Netherlands ships will continue to operate, government sources in Amsterdam said, despite the new restrictions and the sinking of seven Dutch ships by German mines or submarines. It was announced that The Netherlands ships would be equipped with paravanes, devices on the bows to fend off mines.)

British and French naval experts estimated that from 30 to 40 German submarines had been sunk since the war began Sept. 3.

FRENCH SINK 10

French naval units were credited with having sunk probably 10, the Royal Navy with two or three a week. Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, said in the House of Commons Nov. 8 that the Allies must expect to combat "100 U-boats in January, less whatever sinkings have occurred."

The admiralty said a German statement yesterday that a U-boat had sunk a British cruiser off the Scottish class off the Shetland Islands was "devoid of truth." Naval circles said the German report may have been intended to "other up the people" or elicit information on the position of British warships.

The French high command reported seizure of the German freighters Santa Fe and Trisels, ships of 6,000 and 4,627 tons, respectively.

The air ministry published a new casualty list for the war to date, showing 60 men killed in action, 244 wounded or who died of active duty, which includes training, 81 missing and 15 taken prisoner.

been created under the chairmanship of Prof. E. A. Bott of Toronto University, and including the leading psychiatrists from every province. Dr. Mathers, of Winnipeg, is a member of it, but there are, as well, representatives from Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

The slogan is—it costs $25,000 to train a man for the air force, let us find out in advance if he is fitted to be an airman. If not, the state is simply throwing $25,000 away. And so with all the other highly technical services of war.

WORK IN EARLY STAGES

At the moment the psychiatrists are concentrating upon the air force and the navy, but the other services will be dealt with as soon as possible. The work is proceeding, in its early stages, by the preparation of questionnaires. But other methods will be used as the work progresses. Here are two men seemingly in perfect physical condition. One "blacks out" at three Gs (three times gravity) and the other remains fully conscious up to seven Gs! And why does one mistranslate his plane in moments of great peril and excitement, while another is never better than when the danger is greatest?

The scientists, of course, are working on the finished product as well as the recruit. They are seeking the answers to many of these problems from the man who has made good. "To be in this work with similar research work now proceeding in Britain, Sir Frederick Banting has been sent to London as Balson officer.

Soviet Plans To Hand Finland Ultimatum To Move Troops Off Border

belief today that the German general staff was secretly encouraging Finland in its resistance to Russia, despite the Germans' outward show of indifference to the Finns' fate.

The general impression here, however, was that Finland was acting independently and that the sympathy of the United States had been a factor in strengthening the Finns.

Opinion was sharply divided over whether Russian threats were a prelude to an attack or whether they were part of a "war of nerves." Finn quarters here reckoned strongly with the possibility that the Soviet navy would seize the defenseless Finnish islands of Hoogland, Lavansaari, Tycarsari and Seiskari which had remained unfortified in accordance with the threat of Dorpat.

Competent Finnish spokesmen said Finland was ready to cede Russia outright a tongue of land projecting toward Leningrad on the Karelian isthmus but that Finland could yield no more because it would mean abandoning the Finnish border fortifications there.

Scandinavia Watching In Suspense

British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.

OSLO, Norway, Nov. 29.—The agrarian newspaper Nationev said today that Scandinavia was watching the Soviet-Finnish situation "hour by hour in a tense, fearful atmosphere."

The Conservative Aftenposten said: "Nobody in Scandinavia believes the Finns are shooting in order to provoke war."

The Independent Morgenbladet said: "For a long time since we have seen such mistimed dispatches as were received from Germany yesterday on the German view of the Soviet policy of frightening smaller nations."

(German spokesmen have said that Russia is entitled to secure her outlet to the Baltic through the Gulf of Finland and cannot be expected to "breathe through the lungs of a small nation.")

The Morgenbladet continued: "It now seems that the trouble for small neutrals is beginning and they are unable to get help from greater states."

Four Unfortified Islands May Be Seized

By HAROLD PETERS

British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.

HELSINGFORS, Nov. 29.—Finns believed today that Russia might start an invasion of their country by seizing four unfortified islands in the Gulf of Finland. These islands had been included in Russia's territorial demands. They are defenseless and the Soviet fleet is known to have been active in their vicinity lately.

What Finland would do if they were seized was only a guess, but people in the street reflect the idea that Finland would fight to resist aggression. Russia's cancellation of the Russian-Finnish non-aggression treaty and her protests against alleged violations of the border by Finnish troops—charges that the government has denied and the people are convinced are false—caused public indignation in Finland.

The situation admittedly was critical.

The cabinet met until midnight drafting the reply to Russia's demands.

It will be handed to Soviet Premier V. M. Molotov this morning by the Finnish minister, Baron A. A. S. Yrjo-Koskinen. Many cabinet ministers spent the night in their offices. Several members of the German colony were leaving Helsingfors. The Finnish government insisted there was no truth in the Soviet announcements of four border violations by Finnish troops in the Karelian Isthmus, including that one reported Sunday.

It was disclosed that after the alleged Sunday incident, Finnish troops had withdrawn about half a mile from the frontier to make sure that there was no basis for any further such complaints.

Roosevelt May Make Second Appeal

By H. O. LYONS

United Press Exclusive Dispatch to The Edmonton Bulletin.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—American state department officials feared that increasing sympathy in the United States for Finland might force President Roosevelt to appeal again for peaceful settlement of the Soviet-Finnish border dispute.

The believed that a major factor in American public opinion is the result of Finland's prompt and unfailing annual payment of its war debt. That country has created an abundance of American good will by being the only European nation not to default on payments of debt principal or interest.

Roosevelt on previous occasions has addressed himself directly to the heads of European states involved in an impending crisis. Officials believe that if public opinion becomes strong enough he may moved again to appeal for a peace settlement. But they have not forgotten the last time Roosevelt addressed Soviet President Kalinin on the subject of peace. He was criticized then by Soviet Premier V. M. Molotov and other Soviet leaders for "unwarranted interference" in European affairs. State department officials doubt the wisdom of another message.

Italy Pours Out Sympathy For Finns

ROME, Nov. 29.—Italy, in the midst of a press campaign against Russia's ambitions in the Balkans, today poured out sympathy for Finland. Marshal Italo Balbo's newspaper Corriere Pedano at Tirana, complimented Finland on her calmness and said her solidarity with other Scandinavian countries might solve the crisis yet.

"Besides, America and most other civilized peoples also feel solidarity with Finland," the newspaper said.

"This little country . . . with its simple customs doesn't fear threats coming from the Colosus with clay feet . . . if Russia wants to attack a dust cap, let her do so. The Finns will defend themselves."

gunned three German seaplanes mooring there.

The British dropped no bombs but fulfilled their reconnaissance mission in spite of anti-aircraft fire, swooped low over the airdrome to operate their machine guns, and returned without casualties, the military reported. The raid occurred yesterday afternoon.

It was believed that the British planes were Bristol-Blenheim bombers converted into fighters, which would give them a range of 1,900 miles and a speed of 295 miles an hour when not loaded with bombs.

CHARGES DENIED

The ministry denied German charges that Royal Air Force planes had violated the Netherlands Monday night after a reconnaissance flight over northern Germany and that one British plane probably was lost in the North Sea.

Fighting planes took to the air again today as anti-aircraft batteries along the French and Belgian fighting, but it was learned later the shooting was not due to a German raid and no alarm was sounded.

Pioneer Resident Of Red Deer Dies: Funeral Thursday

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

RED DEER, Nov. 29.—L. E. Brown of Red Deer, resident of this district since 1899, died at his home here Tuesday, aged 53 years. His health had not been good for some years.

Born at Grundy Centre, Iowa, on September 19, 1887, Lyle Edward Brown came with his family to Alberta in 1899. They took up a homestead in the Valley Centre district east of here and this has been the Brown home ever since.

Mr. Brown was a good farmer and stockman, and was particularly interested in the work of the younger farmers and was active in organization of calf and pig clubs for boys and girls in the district. He was a member of the Red Deer Agricultural Society. The Browns moved into Red Deer in 1928.

In 1916 Mr. Brown was married to Miss Josephine Truan. There are three sons: Thomas, Valley Centre; Gunner Creighton Brown, of the 43rd Battery, R.C.A., Calgary and Ralph, at home. Two brothers, Everett, Valley Centre, and Arthur, Grundy Centre, Iowa, also survive. Funeral services on Thursday at 2.30 p.m. from Leonard Gaetz United church.

102 STREET AT JASPER FOUND BUSIEST SPOT

Traffic Census Shows Volume Is Heavy At Main Intersections

Jasper avenue at 102 street is the city's busiest intersection for vehicular traffic, while the intersection of 102 avenue and 101 street is the busiest pedestrian cross-roads, it was shown in a traffic census issued Wednesday by City Engineer A. W. Haddow.

The traffic census, carried out on Friday, October 20; Friday, November 3, and Tuesday, November 7, shows the volume of traffic at main intersections on average days. Peak traffic, such as that on Saturdays, would be higher.

WILL SHARE REPORT

Basing his estimates on this survey, Mr. Haddow will present to the civic bylaws committee detailed recommendations on traffic lights and other control measures needed in the city at the present time.

On his recent trip east, Mr. Haddow held conferences with traffic engineers of Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa.

"In these cities," he said, "they did not favor elimination of the right hand turn except under special circumstances. The impulse system in traffic lights, which makes this turn on a rotation, keeping a continuity to the traffic flow, also is found satisfactory.

"All the engineers said that their best guide was the Manual on Uniform Traffic Control Devices for Streets and Highways which we have been using in Edmonton."

17,086 VEHICLES

At Jasper and 102 street, the traffic survey showed, 40,479 pedestrians passed the two city intersection in 16 hours, In the maximum hour for vehicles, 4:30 to 5:30 p.m., 2,071 vehicles passed. The minimum hour observed, average four 1,068 and total of 17,086.

At 102 avenue and 101 street, 47,617 pedestrians were tallied with a total of 12,203 vehicles; 1,351 vehicles in the maximum hour, 362 in the minimum hour and 763 in the average hour.

Jasper and 101 street showed 47,079 pedestrians and 9,994 vehicles, of which 1,291 were in the maximum hour, 526 in the minimum hour and an average of 641.

Today's War

land was necessary. Finland balked.

The process of intimidation, the war of nerves, has been going on for more than a month, and now has crystallized in cancellation of the Russian-Finnish non-aggression pact and a new attack on Finland.

Warfare, even such a seemingly easy fight as the subjection of Finland, has not been a part of Stalin's program. Some think it difficult to believe even now that Stalin will start an actual war, despite the unequivocal position he has taken.

It seems possible that Stalin, for the moment, may seize the four unfortified Finnish islands of Hoogland, Lavansaari, Tycarsari and Seiskari, in the Gulf of Finland and push the Finns back to the required 12 miles from their frontier near Leningrad.

WAIT FOR A WHILE

Then Stalin could wait — for awhile. Finland's little army of a few hundred thousand is absurdly no match for Russia's army and her midget air force and fleet are negligible. What could Finland do—invade Russia up to or to wrest back the four islands from the Russian Baltic fleet? Hardly likely.

Finland's position is precarious. Her Scandinavian neighbors and the allies cannot help. Germany probably is very unhappy over the matter but is obliged by circumstances to remain aloof. German comment is a neat example of saying & practically nothing.

LIMITED RESOURCES

The stubborn will and courage of the Finnish people are offset by their limited resources. The war and its blockade have cut Finland's exports about three-fourths, so there is no money coming in to bolster its economy, until now nicely balanced.

It is a question of how long Finland can bear the cost of keeping its army of 400,000 or so in the field to face the continuous Russian threat. It is eating steadily into the country's slim reserves.

There is the added burden of unemployment—the lumber mills are mostly idle—and there are the thousands of families rooted from their means of livelihood in the invaded border regions.

If Stalin can afford to wait through the winter, he should be able to take what he wants. There is a question, though, of whether he can afford to wait. His program needs to go ahead while Germany and the allies are still fighting it out.

Great Britain has nearly 10,000 local government councils, ranging from 62 county councils to 7,000 parish councils.

Public Is Thanked

Receive Gifts

This is a "Thank you" letter. It came from a little northern town in Alberta and is addressed to The Bulletin and those Bulletin readers who responded to the story of the sick mother in the University hospital in Edmonton and provided a cot, tricycle and gramophone for her sick eight-year-old son, also a hospital patient. Both are now back home.

"We have just received by yesterday's freight the cot, gramophone and tricycle for Maurice," writes the gallant little mother. "Please accept our thanks and convey it to the donors. Theirs was a great act of kindness and they have brought much joy to my little boy who is now so happy. I am not very well myself yet, and have to be in bed most of the time, but he enjoys himself so much with the tricycle and the gramophone, and the cot which we are able to fold up in the daytime, saves me much hard work and worry. Again I thank you and your kind readers."

NAZI U-BOAT CREW LAUGH AT PLIGHT OF MEN

lugsail. I didn't hoist mine as I thought the weather was too bad. I saw the other boat make sail and that was the last we saw of our shipmates. As we got clear the U-boat men laughed at us.

"Soon after leaving our ship we saw another trawler sunk and later passed a lifeboat with 13 men in it. We waved but did not get within hailing distance.

"The weather was very bad, we had to bail incessantly and several times I thought the boat was going under. We had a keg of fresh water and some biscuits but no lantern and no compass. Two of the men collapsed before we made land after 38 hours in the open boat in a southwesterly gale."

DAUGHTER LATE GEORGE LANE IS DEAD IN EAST

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 29—Mrs. Mabel Lane Paulin, 51, wife of Dr. H. M. Paulin, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, and daughter of the late George Lane, prominent western Canada ranch owner, died at the church parsonage today.

Born in Calgary, she came to Windsor with her husband in 1915 when he took over the pastorate of the church after a brief period of service as minister at Chalmers Presbyterian church, Woodstock, Ont.

Surviving are her husband, two sons, Hugh Mortimer and William Cameron, at home, four brothers, Ernest and Roy of Byemore, Alta., Clifton of Toronto and George of Stavely, Alta.; three sisters, Mrs. D. O. Everett of Milwaukee; Mrs. J. Cook Gordon of Stavely, and Mrs. E. B. Day of Red Deer, Alberta, and her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Lane of Calgary.

BRITISH LIFE IS BUILT ON BASIS OF CHRISTIANITY

Declaring that the development of the British character is without a parallel in history, Hon. J. C. Bowen, lieutenant-governor, gave a review of the development of toleration in Britain and outlined contributions which it had made to the democracy of other nations at the 45th anniversary banquet of Knox United church Tuesday.

Great Britain has built a democratic foundation on the premise of the acceptance of the effect of of Christian religion on national life. His Honor said. There is no more thrilling story of the development of free British institutions than in the growth and building of Canada. The people of Canada are today more united than at any time in their history, he added.

"Even with the world against us the Empire shall stand. We are fighting today to perpetuate the ideas and institutions which we have won through the ages," he declared.

Opening of a drive for $1,800 to pay off the indebtedness of the church this year was announced by Alex M. Macdonald, member of the board of governors, who stated that finances were no longer a serious problem in Knox church. Greetings to the congregation were brought by Rev. J. M. Thompson of Metropolitan United Church and Rev. A. M. Hittle of Strathcona Baptist Church.

A program of choir music under the leadership of W. Mawer and short plays by the Knox C.G.I.T. group were presented. Pearl Bissett gave an accordian solo. Dr. George A. Macdonald, pastor, presided.

Ernst Thaelmann Reported Executed By Nazi Command

British United Press

LONDON, Nov. 29. — The Daily Herald said today that word had reached authoritative quarters in an unnamed neutral country that the Germans had executed Ernest Thaelmann, leader of the German Communist party, twice a candidate for president.

The Daily Herald story, which did not give the origin of its information, said the news of Thaelmann's alleged execution first was disclosed by a German foreign office representative to the Spanish ambassador in Berlin to reassure him that there was no danger of a Communist uprising in Germany.

BERLIN, Nov. 29.—Ernst Thaelmann, German Communist leader, is not dead, it was said officially today. It was believed Thaelmanna still is in a concentration camp.

EDUCATION IN REICH IS CUT TO MINIMUM

BERLIN, Nov. 29—War has reduced higher education, except in technical schools, to a minimum in Germany, while some student doctors are stepping into the positions of physicians and surgeons called to the front.

On the university level only a half dozen schools remain open—all others, including the famous old universities of Heidelberg and Freiberg, lying close to the French border, are closed.

Boys drawn out of upper grades of the German equivalent of graduation, were presented with diplomas without taking examinations.

Germany Isn't Trusting Russia On New Frontier

LONDON, Nov. 29.—A report circulating in London last night said Germany has become alarmed at the weakness of her frontier with Russia in conquered Poland and has begun to construct fortifications.

The new German defences were reported to include not only trenches but steel-reinforced concrete fortifications of the kind used in the Siegfried line.

Other sources reported recently the Russians were heavily fortifying their side of the line.

Car Licenses To Be Orange, Black

Color scheme of Alberta automobile license plates for the fiscal year beginning April 1, 1940, will be orange figures on a black background, it was announced Wednesday by Hon. Ernest C. Manning, provincial secretary.

Announcement also was made that January 10 will be the cut-off date for acceptance by the government of applications for a 20 per cent. rebate on the current year's license plates turned in by car owners laying up cars for the winter.

CANADA WHEAT IMPORTANT TO ALLIES' CAUSE

Menace Of Sea Warfare Places Dominion In Key Position

WINNIPEG, Nov. 29.—Canada, with wheat stocks currently estimated at 400,000,000 bushels, yesterday assumed a key position as a source of supply for the Allies as Britain and France fought the menace of German sea warfare.

At the start of the war wheat exports to the United Kingdom dwindled to the mere odd shipment, but at that time authoritative sources expressed the opinion that Britain planned to maintain the Canadian stocks as a reserve supply.

BUYING INCREASES

Yesterday and on Monday, Winnipeg grain exchange dealings revealed, the United Kingdom and neutral countries' buyers dipped into the Dominion's overflowing wheat bins with nearly 10,000,000 bushels of wheat and flour worked for overseas shipment. Export sales yesterday totalled more than 7,000,000 bushels with wheat values at Winnipeg increasing more than two cents a bushel in the futures market.

Canada's proximity to Europe has a marked advantage over the long routes from Australia and the Argentine, menaced by German U-boats and surface raiders of the sea.

Early in the war, Britain sought wheat stocks from distant ports but now she is seeking the nearby supplies in Canada.

Adding to the importance of the Dominion's supplies are developments in the Argentine, where unfavorable harvesting weather has deteriorated the new crop.

ARGENTINE IS HIT

Argentine forecasts have been lowered as the result of frost and rust damage and some observers estimate the new crop at as low as 160,000,000 bushels compared with 338,000,000 harvested last year.

Adding to Canada's key position are the poor prospects in the United States winter wheat belt after many weeks of drought conditions.

The sea warfare has added to the cost of wheat shipments from the Argentine with sharp increases in freight and war risk rates in recent days.

U. S. RED GETS POOR HEARING AT YALE MEET

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 29.—Earl Browder, United States Communist leader, who was barred from speaking at Harvard, Princeton and Dartmouth, gave his views on "America and the present war" to a Yale University student audience Tuesday, declaring "the only way to peace is to take power out of the hands of the Capitalists."

He spoke in an atmosphere almost as noisy as New York's Union Square, time honored forum for left-wing orators, and when he left the hall by a rear door about 300 boisterous students milled around his automobile with cries of "turn it over."

One side of the car was lifted high in the air but no damage was done.

Churchill Celebrates 65th Birthday Tomorrow At Admiralty Office

By PAT USSHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 29—Winston Churchill will spend his 65th birthday tomorrow at the Admiralty. He spent his 40th birthday there, too.

War brought this man—one of Great Britain's most versatile, dynamic statesmen—back to the key post he held at the outbreak of the first great war.

Churchill

Now as in 1914 he is engaged in directing the war against the U-boat menace and the grim business of blockading Germany. British warships patrol the seas on the alert for enemy craft, convoying vital supplies. This is the responsibility of the First Lord of the Admiralty.

Mr. Churchill is at the Admiralty early and late. He often sleeps there.

HAS PUBLIC CONFIDENCE

The success of the royal navy in hunting down and sinking submarines has encouraged the nation. But there has been serious losses. The aircraft carrier Courageous and the battleship Royal Oak have been torpedoed and other craft lost. And Mr. Churchill candidly admitted in Parliament that the defences of Scapa Flow were not adequate when a German submarine entered that base and sank the Royal Oak.

But the First Lord remains high in public confidence. People realize he only assumed office on the outbreak of war. They are confident he will see that things are done properly.

He has not wasted his time. He has been to Paris for talks with the minister in charge of France's navy, Cesar Campinchi. He has visited northern naval bases and he has energetically taken hold of the manifold administrative duties of office at the admiralty itself.

TALK OF PREMIERSHIP

Political gossips are wondering if Mr. Churchill will become Prime Minister to cap his long cabinet service. Since 1908 he has held many different cabinet jobs. He has been president of the Board of Trade, home secretary, first lord of the admiralty (twice), minister of munitions, war secretary, air secretary, colonial secretary and chancellor of the exchequer.

But the highest office of all may yet elude him. Prime Minister Chamberlain, still vigorous despite his 70 years, may remain in office throughout the war. Failing that, Mr. Churchill's strongest rival is Sir Samuel Hoare.

Meanwhile the public has become accustomed to pictures of Mr. Churchill entering the admiralty, with vigorous stride, a cigar gripped between his teeth; and it hopes he'll stay there.

B.C. Brief Costs Province $51,691

VICTORIA, Nov. 29.—Preparation and presentation of British Columbia's brief to the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations cost $51,891, Premier T. D. Pattullo said yesterday in answer to questions in the legislature.

MAGNA CARTA GOING INTO SAFEKEEPING

By H. O. LYONS
United Press
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—British ambassador Lord Lothian deposited today in the library of Congress for the duration of the war the most cherished existing copy of the Magna Carta.

Librarian Archibald MacLeish accepted the famous document at an informal ceremony. Members of the supreme court and a specially invited list of dignitaries were guests of honor. MacLeish and Lord Lothian spoke briefly.

The Magna Carta, too valuable to risk a crossing of the Atlantic during the war, will remain in a specially constructed case and under a 24-hour-a-day guard, at least until the war ends.

The location chosen for display of the document is in the library's rotunda from where two other great documents of democracy are displayed—the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States.

FISHERMAN HAS NOVEL WEAPON FOR NAZI MINES

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 29 — A fisherman has suggested a counter-weapon against German mines. The Times-Picayune said fisherman wrote that Great Britain should get 500 of Louisiana's biggest alligator gar fish. The writer suggested that steel bands be put around the gars and that the fish be liberated in areas suspected of being mined. Then, says the fisherman, the gar runs into a mine and explodes it, thus saving everyone—except the gar.

TORIES NOT TO CONTEST BY-ELECTION

SASKATOON, Nov. 29—The by-election in the Saskatoon federal constituency on December 18 will be a two-way contest between Michael P. Hayes, Liberal candidate, and the Rev. W. G. Brown, representative of the United Reform movement.

Approximately 500 supporters of the national Conservative party, who met here last night for the announced purpose of nominating a candidate, unanimously decided not to contest the by-election.

The meeting which heard speaker after speaker urge that in party unity exercise its energy and financial strength for a general election next year, unanimously endorsed a resolution to that effect.

"I am glad that you all say, as I do, our Empire first—our party second," said J. G. Diefenbaker, K.C., Saskatchewan Conservative leader, in congratulating Saskatoon members of the national Conservative party, upon deciding against creating further strife in the country at this time by entering a candidate in the federal by-election.

Cable News In Brief

LONDON, Nov. 29.—A neutral naval officer who has just arrived in Great Britain said last night the German liner Bremen seriously damaged its engines in its dash to the Soviet port of Murmansk just after the outbreak of war. At least 50 German ships including the liner New York and two loaded oil tankers, now are immobilized at Murmansk, he said.

ROME, Nov. 29.—The European belligerents are hesitating to undertake any decisive operations because they are not certain which way Italy will turn, the newspaper Popolo D'Italia said last night. The Italy of today is not that of 1914, but a nation whose attitude commands the respect of foreign general staffs, the newspaper said.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Members of the war cabinet will undertake speaking tours to acquaint the British public fully with the progress of the war. Cabinet ministers will take the platform in all large cities. Members of parliament will also speak, mostly in outlying districts.

TOKYO, Nov. 29.—Conclusion of a Japanese-Russian non-aggression pact was strongly urged by the newspaper Hochi today on grounds it was vitally necessary "to enable the Soviet Union to extend unstinted assistance to Germany by removing all causes of worry." The newspaper Miyako said the time is ripe for renewing relations between Japan, Russia and Italy.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Most of the funds collected in the United States for relief for war wounded will go to help British soldiers, Bertram Kruger, representative in England of the American Society for British Medical and Civilian Aid, said in a radio address last night.

BRITAIN WILL MODIFY WAR RESTRICTIONS

LONDON, Nov. 29—The government last night modified several of the drastic measures enforced at the outbreak of the war to maintain public order and prevent activities prejudicial to the security of the nation.

Powers to control the press were made less sweeping, and the right to appeal against detention orders was instituted.

The original extraordinary measures brought a wave of protest from members of the House of Commons and they were redrafted with the help of members of all parties.

The September order permitting arrest of any person if the home office felt such action was necessary for the security of the nation was modified. Only persons of enemy origin or belonging to hostile organization or suspected of implication in a plot or act against the security of the state, can now be detained.

U. S. DEFENCE BUDGET WILL BE SPLIT UP

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 29—President Roosevelt disclosed at a press conference yesterday he was splitting the national defence budget into two parts to differentiate clearly between normal expenditures and those made necessary by the war and the United States' neutrality proclamation.

There will be "A" and "B" budgets for defence for the year starting next July 1, the president said. The former will include what the administration would have recommended for expenditure had there been no war abroad with ramifications touching the United States.

Into the "B" budget, Mr. Roosevelt said, will go some $500,000,000 in extra items regarded as essential because there is a conflict and the United States government is attempting to remain neutral.

Over-Consumption Of Alcohol Given As Cause Of Death

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

WETASKIWIN, Nov. 29 — At an inquest held last week a jury investigating the death of Howard John Ziebarth, brought in a verdict that the deceased came to his death at his home about 10 miles northwest of Wetaskiwin as the result of over-consumption of alcoholic spirits. Dr. Wamsp, coroner, conducted the inquest, and the jury was composed of Alf. Ellis, foreman; Chas. Boyer, Joe Abousaffy, F. H. Blackwell, J. B. Black and M. Merner.

Witnesses were Mrs. Zibarth, Gottlieb Wolf, Sam Minde, John Paul, Paul Ziebarth, Seth Wells, Robert Deering, Constable Mulcaster, Albert Winters, Dr. Hemmings, Dr. Shillabeer and Dr. Stevenson.

MONTREAL, Nov. 29—Three hundred and fifty watches, valued at $4,500, were stolen Monday from the parked automobile of W. J. Brown. He told police the thief had broken a car window.

NAZIS UNABLE TO COMPLETE BARTER DEAL

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 29.—Officials of the Argentine State Railways said Tuesday a 14,500,000 peso ($4,350,000) deal to barter wheat and wool for German railway equipment had collapsed under the weight of wartime restrictions.

German firms, including Krupp and Thyssen, who had contracted to furnish 900 freight cars, 30 sleepers and 66 switching locomotives gave notice they should be unable to fulfill their contracts.

Railway officials said a 500,000 peso ($150,000) guarantee for delivery posted by the Germans with financial agents here would be returned.

Wheat already shipped to Germany under the deal already is paid for by German credits amounting to 3,500,000 marks (nominally $1,400,000) held in Buenos Aires. The contract called for 100,000 tons of wheat.

DANISH SHIP IS SEIZED BY NAZI WARSHIP

British United Press

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 29 — The Danish steamer Cyril, carrying a cargo of coal from England, was seized by a German warship today.

Since the vessel was carrying a British export product some observers believed that its seizure was Germany's answer to Britain's extension of its contraband control to German export carried in neutral ships.

When captured the Cyril was waiting outside the Stockholm Skiergaard for a pilot, who was unable to go out because of bad weather. It was believed that the Germans took the seized vessel to Swinemuende.

HERRIDGE GOING TO KINDERSLEY FOR CONVENTION

OTTAWA, Nov. 29.—Hon. W. D. Herridge, head of the New Democracy movement and former Canadian minister to Washington, left here last night for Kindersley, Sask., to attend the convention called for Thursday to nominate a candidate to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons caused by the resignation of O. B. Elliott, Social Credit member.

The Social Credit group in the Commons last session announced it represented the New Democracy movement in federal politics and Mr. Elliott's resignation later was described as a move to enable Mr. Herridge to become a member of parliament from that constituency. Accordingly it is expected here that Mr. Herridge will be given the nomination.

Big Increase In Marriages Since Beginning Of War

OTTAWA, Nov. 29.—Dan Cupid is liable to wear out his bow or run out of arrows at the rate he's been working since the start of the war.

Marriage in 67 cities and towns in Canada during October, the second month of the war, totalled 7,297 compared with 4,607 in October last year, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. During the first month of the war the increase was 68½ per cent over September last year.

Births registered number 7,300 compared with 6,819 in October, 1938, and deaths 4,328 compared with 4,230.

Loot Recovered

STONEY POINT, Ont., Nov. 29—The provincial Bank of Canada branch here was robbed of approximately $2,000 today, and th.. money was recovered afterwards in a barn not far from the village. 40 miles east of Windsor. Leonard Levrasue, 25, was arrested by police.

ESKIMO RACE IS UNWARLIKE SAY EXPERTS

OTTAWA, Nov. 29.—With Canada at war there are some 7,000 ardent "pacifists" in the northern regions of the Dominion completely aloof from the war effort. As a matter of fact, the Eskimo population knows nothing about the war and historically is probably the world's most unwarlike race, according to two outstanding authorities on those northern people.

The Eskimos, says Major D. L. McKeand, chief of the Dominion government's annual eastern Arctic patrol, and Rt. Rev. A. L. Fleming, Anglican Bishop of the Arctic, are survivors of the patriarchal age, and because they have no tribes, they have no nationalism.

Eskimo life is based on the family unit rather than on the tribal unit. Eskimos live in small groups, moving about the vast expanse of snow, ice and tundra. The quarrels are family disputes rather than clashes of rivalry between different tribes of different peoples.

COMPOSER OF 'MADEMOISELLE' HAS NEW SONGS

TORONTO, Nov. 29—Lieut. Gitz Rice, who wrote Mademoiselle from Armentieres," landed in town from New York yesterday with a bag of new war songs.

The titles of the new ones, he said, are "Hello, Hitler," "We Did It Before, We'll Do It Again," "Your Land and My Land," and "Somewhere in Europe."

Rice, native of New Glasgow, N.S., says he wrote only the "proper" verses of the 4,000 or more that were sung of Mademoiselle. He also wrote two musical shows that were successful in New York.

OPEN VERDICT RETURNED IN INGRAM DEATH

FERNIE, B. C., Nov. 29. — An open verdict was returned Tuesday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of 70-year-old William Ingram after police announced at the inquest certain information would have to be withheld temporarily.

The jury decided the Fernie storekeeper died in hospital Sunday four days after being struck over the head by some "person or persons unknown."

Isaac Rigg, employee of the deceased, testified Ingram recalled a man followed him on his way home Nov. 22. Ingram said, Rigg continued, he was struck over the head from behind.

Admiral Evans Is Re-Elected Rector Aberdeen Varsity

ABERDEEN, Scotland, Nov. 29—Admiral Sir Edward Evans, "Evans of the Broke," has been re-elected rector of Aberdeen University. He defeated General Sir Edmund Ironside, chief of the Imperial general staff. Dame Sybil Thorndyke, well-known actress, and Lady David Douglas Hamilton, formerly Miss Pamella Stack of the Women's League of Health and Beauty.

By HAROLD FAIR

LONDON, Nov. 29—Great Britain wants her Royal Army Medical Corps efficient and fit. The result is that hundreds of youths today receive the finest possible first-aid instruction and as rigorous a physical training routine as any big league hockey player loosening up after a summer holiday.

Examples of the training were seen during a visit to a large army training centre in the south of England. The sight of lads in gym pants and sweat shirts was more reminiscent of a Canadian college playing field.

HAVE ARDUOUS DUTIES

Explaining the two-fold training, an officer said the corps must be fit for the arduous duties of stretcher bearing and caring for casualties. "Just try carrying an injured person and see what a dead weight he is—then you'll realize why these boys must be in tip-top shape, the officer said.

Elsewhere in the camp, lads were given training in anatomy. "The big problem in casualties is treatment of fractures," the officer explained as a demonstration of bandaging and splint-making took place.

The youths must have scientific training, too, because of the threat of gas in modern warfare. In a long shed a gas squad was at work, instructed by an officer in the proper manner of "mopping up" after a gas attack.

TRAINING FOR FRONT

Nearby was an advance casualty clearing station where the youths received the training they will put to work at the front. Under watchful eyes of doctors the procedure of admission, dressing, "ticketing" and removal in waiting ambulances is shown.

ANNUAL SEAL CAMPAIGN IS NOW STARTED

Sale Christmas Stickers To Assist Tuberculosis Prevention Opens

OTTAWA, Nov. 29—Canada's 12th annual Christmas seal campaign for the prevention of tuberculosis was officially inaugurated Tuesday when hundreds of volunteer workers organized in 63 local committees from Atlantic to Pacific, went into action to spread the "prevent tuberculosis" message through the medium of tiny stickers for Christmas mail.

Emphasis in this year's campaign is being laid upon the necessity of keeping down tuberculosis on the home front in war-time. Already the government is taking steps to assure the Canadian active service force does not contain men so infected.

To provide funds necessary to maintain present clinic and diagnostic facilities at their present efficiency, the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, which supervises the campaign, and the 63 co-operating local organizations are urging Canadians to buy Christmas seals generously. Last year $200,000 was raised through sale of Christmas seals. An equal amount is required this year.

In Edmonton and northern Alberta the campaign is conducted by the Edmonton Kinsmen Club.

Mayor Re-Elected

BRANDON, Man., Nov. 29—Mayor F. H. Young was re-elected in civic voting here Tuesday, polling 3,132 votes to 1,353 for Ald. J. Kirkcaldy and 664 for H. W. Cater, former mayor.

AIR LETTERBOX TO START AGAIN DECEMBER 15

OTTAWA, Nov. 29.—The aerial letterbox of the Arctic will open this year on Dec. 15, it was announced yesterday by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, and will continue every week until the spring.

Letters for the Arctic's winter shut-ins addressed to the C.B.C.'s northern messenger service will be read into the microphone and broadcast over the thousands of miles to the lonely listeners at Craig Harbor, Pond Inlet, Baffin Land, Fort Ross, the Labrador, and scores of other isolated outposts in the great and frozen north, for there is no mail from outside in the winter.

The voice the northern listeners will hear when the service resumes on Dec. 15 from 9:30 p.m. to 10 p.m., M.S.T., will be familiar to thousands in the Arctic. It will be that of Major D. L. McKeand, head of the annual Arctic patrol of the Dominion government carried out by the steamship Nascopie.

Sacred Vessels In Parish Hall Saved By Toronto Priest

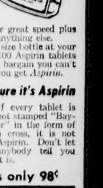

TORONTO, Nov. 29—Trapped by smoke in the third-floor chapel of St. Patrick's parish hall here yesterday, Rev. Edward Gillen made his way to safety with the sacred vessels and the Blessed Sacrament, aided by Fireman Leslie Stewart.

The blaze, caused by faulty wiring, swept through the basement parish hall, doing approximately $5,000 damage.

NATION BUILDING

JUST nineteen years after Selkirk and his Red River settlers built Ft. Douglas, this Bank first opened its doors. For over a century, it has served Canada in providing the "sinews of peace" that has helped make it possible for this new country to develop into one of the foremost nations of the world.

Today, this century-old Bank is ready to co-operate with forward-looking business men and welcomes their inquiries.

On the Spot

The Government of Finland has put Moscow's intentions to the test. It offers to withdraw Finnish troops from the border, as demanded, if Russian troops are withdrawn at the same time and to the same distance.

That puts Stalin on the spot. He can have the border completely demilitarized, and a neutral zone thirty miles wide established, by accepting the proposal. He can only reject it if he wants to get the Finnish troops out of the territory he covets, while keeping his own troops in position to move in and seize it when he gives the word.

Foreign Minister Erkko's "soft answer" may not turn away the Russian wrath; which there is some reason to think was stirred up by artificial means, involving the killing of Soviet soldiers by Soviet guns. But, as soft answers usually do, it has placed the bellicose party in an impossible position. Stalin must now disclose to the world whether he is a man of peace, as he has claimed to be, or just another bully. The "enigma wrapped in a mystery" is due to be solved.

Why Not?

A group of members of the British Columbia legislature have banded together to urge support of a land settlement plan for people who are on relief or are living near the border line of dependence in the cities and towns. They seem to have the right idea since their first aim is to interest such people in the proposal, rather than try to set up machinery on the assumption that a farmward migration would automatically follow.

In several of the provinces there have been settlement schemes on the statute books, and more or less operative, for some years. In all a good many families who could not fend for themselves in town, and a good many to whom the prospect was dark, have been assisted to locate on land and have established themselves there. But the number is small in comparison to the numbers on relief and those living precariously near the border. Perhaps this is a good time to revive the "back to the land" slogan and put life into it by stressing the advantages many more town families might gain by making the change.

The war has not made farmers prosperous. But it is bound as time passes to improve both prices and demand for farm products; and in so doing to better the chance of the man on land to take care of his family and work into a position of permanent independence.

What Boot?

There is no discounting the fact, and there could be no purpose in trying to discount it, that Raeder's U-boats, surface raiders and outlaw mines are among them playing havoc with Allied and neutral shipping.

The drifting and magnetic mines have their associated destroyers beaten to a frazzle. It was because the submarines failed to paralyze commerce and isolate England that the illegal mine campaign was resorted to, for where the mines are turned loose the subs must stay away. The surface raiders of course operate only in seas remote from the recognized danger zone—as far away from it as they can find ships to sink.

The list of victim ships grows daily. That it will continue to grow must be supposed. It may before a full year is out rival the record of 1917, when 170 Allied and neutral ships were sent to the bottom —even without the use of "wild" mines.

Suppose it does? There are every day in the year 2,000 ships at sea carrying goods to or from Britain or from that country to points abroad. British ship-yards are humming with activity, and new vessels launched are already replacing those destroyed. "Frightfulness" can do no more than drown great numbers of men and waste enormous amounts of money; there is no practical possibility that it can "starve" Britain, as it was designed to do and must do to achieve a worth while objective.

This far neutrals have suffered more than the Allies in the gross tonnage sunk, and have lost about as many individual vessels. They are being hit as hard as the countries against which Germany is waging avowed war. So far as their seaborne commerce is concerned they might just as well be at war with Germany as not, for their seamen and ships fare the same.

Whatever else he is accomplishing, Admiral Raeder is making friends for the Allies and enemies for Germany among sailormen and seafaring peoples the world around.

Heroes All

The officers and crew of the Rawalpindi upheld the finest traditions of the British navy. They fought while they had a deck to stand on, and 280 of them went down with their ship.

To a landsman and a layman this is perplexing. It was magnificent, but he must wonder whether it was war. When men have died in the discharge of duty nothing may be said but in their praise. The question is whether the rule they thus valiantly upheld is altogether and always wise. Should it be required of men that in such circumstances they fight when there is no chance to win?

The Rawalpindi was not as fast as the Deutschland. It was armed with only 6-inch guns, against the Deutschland's 11-inch guns; and the other unknown German raider was probably as heavily armed as the merchant cruiser itself. There was no practical possibility of doing material damage to the enemy. There was no such thing as out-manoeuvring the assailants. There was evidently no Allied warship in the vicinity which might reach the scene if a delaying action were fought.

What must happen is what did happen. The Deutschland cruised about the doomed liner at will, set it on fire and tore it to pieces with its long-range guns. The ship's company knew to a certainty how the business would end. What, one wonders, would have been lost had they scuttled the vessel and taken to the boats.

That of course isn't "The way they have in the navy". While a ship floats it fights. No greater demand can be made on human valor. And never did men live up to the tradition with a finer courage than those who manned the Rawalpindi.

The war is reacting to speed up industrial operations and increase employment in Canada. October usually shows a drop in employment figures reported to the Bureau of Statistics, but this year the figures went up nearly 19,000 during the month. Compared with a year ago, reporting firms were employing 100,000 more persons than at the first of November last year.

The Calgary Herald is demanding more railway services for the North West. It says that the government at Ottawa has paid little attention thus far to the needs of this territory, and in providing railways, it has thought more of its own national problems than of the peculiar difficulties facing the North West. It urges that petitions be sent to Ottawa demanding responsible government for the Assembly in the hope that the assembly then would be able to press for more decisive action.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Thing that most impressed me on a hurried visit to Edmonton after more than a year's absence, was the electric trolley busses. I'd seen pictures of them, but one is so accustomed to associate noise with transportation that the big, easy-running realities gum-shoeing their way through traffic, surprise by their silence. There'll be no more car lines laid anywhere now. I recall the first electric tram I saw.

EDMONTON'S SILENT PRIDE

I was trudging, sleepy-eyed, as a boy to work in a Mersey shipyard, when out of the darkness at 5 on a wintry morning, a palace of light swept by on rails that previously had known only the noise and clatter of four-horse tramcars, lighted by two coal-oil lamps. Though it would be out of date now, that brightly-lighted car quietly coasting downhill, seemed the final thing in luxurious transportation.

Then came the automobile. Even Solomon in all his glory never rode in a chariot so speedy and marvellous as a Model "T" Ford. I recall people stopping in their tracks when a woman drove by. Her fest seemed as marvellous as if she'd crossed the Saskatchewan on a tight rope. That was several years before I first saw a depraved female smoking a cigarette on the deck of a Belfast steamer. Times do alter.

Joyce Kilmer's poem "Trees," since it was set to music, has become one of the best known of all poems and songs. Yet the garden of the poet's birthplace at New Brunswick, N.J., has never borne a tree. Last Sunday, two pin oaks were planted there in memory of the poet who fell in the Great War, leaving behind him an immortal tribute to trees and their Maker. The two Joyce Kilmers and Rupert Brookes and "Sakis" are too few to be allowed to offer themselves on the altar of war.

ing on foot, the blonde senorita sometimes thrills spectators by putting her mount into leaps over the bull's horns as it charges.

The senorita need fear no competition from me. Every man—and woman too—to his or her own game. Perhaps the senorita runs from a mouse. Last summer a cowboy rode his cayuse from Idaho to Vancouver, B.C., to take part in a rodeo contest at Nanaimo, B.C. When he learned that Nanaimo was thirty miles away by water, he clambered on the hurricane deck of his bronk and headed for home, telling a bystander, "I've sheered all about that there seasickness and I ain't atakin' no chances."

The International Bible Students' cult, that has been undergoing persecution in Germany and elsewhere for its literal interpretation of the Mosaic law against bowing down to graven images, has gained some relief. The Federal Circuit Court of Appeals at Philadelphia has ruled that school children need not salute the American flag if it violates their conscientious sciences. It quotes George Washington as authority. Two children, whose parents belong to the sect, had been expelled from school for standing "in respectful silence" while the other children saluted the stars and stripes.

WAS GEORGE "UN-AMERICAN?"

The writing of Washington which the judges took for their guidance, reads: "I assure you very explicitly that, in my opinion, the conscientious scruples of all men should be treated with great delicacy and tenderness; and it is my wish and desire that the laws may always be as extensively accommodated to them as a due regard to the protection and essential interests of the nation may justify and permit."

The highest courts in New Jersey, Massachusetts and Georgia have ruled otherwise in flag worship cases. They'll find it hard to apply that silly word "un-American" to the father of his country.

A British tribunal has strained tolerance to exempt from war service a movie actor, Desmond Tester, who is known for his appearance in a war play. He was the Highland drummer boy in "The Drums"—a film story of the British army in India. Tester said his abhorrence of war would not permit him to play in propaganda films, or even to entertain troops in hospitals. "That would be a humanitarian service, but they would be going back to fight again," he protested when asked to act as entertainer to wounded men.

Mr. Tester was entered as a conscientious objector on condition he does farm work. That's tolerance in a nation at war.

Religion Day By Day

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

THE NEW ACCENT

Both the world and the Church have of late years been on a wild debauch of materialism and of "new" ideas. Now a change has occurred, apparent to all who study the signs of the times. The new accent is upon the singular adequacy of Jesus Christ. For a time, we forgot Him. Now our distresses have turned us back to Him as the only Way.

All great religious gatherings, lately held, have been remarkable for their emphasis upon Christ, as the only Leader Who can save our world. We are in harmony with the world's better mood when we meditate upon the qualities of our Saviour; and, with renewed zest, study His life as we find it in the New Testament. The teacher and the preacher who dwells more upon Jesus will find that he has the latest and best and most welcome message for his listeners.

"We would see Jesus." Amidst all the lowering clouds of our day, we would seek for the face of Him who loved us and gave Himself for us. Amen.

These Will Be Overcome

"Who killed cock robin?" was the classic and puzzling riddle of one's nursery days. The Germans would make another such riddle out of the sinking of the Athenia and now the Simon Bolivar. But the guilt for these tragedies of the sea presents no perplexity to most of the world. The trail leads directly to the Nazi door, despite the protestations, innuendoes and amazing charges that spring from the brain of Dr. Goebbels.

For instance, why should Great Britain sow mine fields in the sea traffic lanes surrounding the British Isles? Would it be a sensible wartime policy for her to blow up the ships that are bringing her food and other supplies? Would it be a wise policy to destroy vessels of neutral nations for whose continued friendship she hopes? The answers to these queries should be obvious to even the Nazi mind.

These mine fields may be the "secret weapon" of which Hitler has boasted. Lurking in waters contiguous to Great Britain, aimed at crippling British sea trade but striking at neutral shipping as well, they may constitute a serious danger for a time at least.

Hitler will find he cannot conquer the British and the French by such methods. The fouler his blows the greater will be their determination to carry on to victory.—Regina Leader-Post.

This Is Canada's War

Mr. Crerar's broadcast from London yesterday laid admirable emphasis upon a truth which cannot be given too wide publicity for the sake of Canada's war effort itself and also for the sake of the effect that effort can have, both at home and abroad. Canada was in the war, he said, because of her realization that her ideals, her institutions, her safety and her prosperity would be threatened by a Nazi victory. As a free country, speaking through her own parliament, Canada's decision was made, voluntarily, gladly and wisely. Mr. Mackenzie King made the position clear in the House of Commons last September:

If parliament supports the administration, this country will go into this war to defend its institutions and its liberties and equally to be at the side of Britain, co-operating with her and with France.

In taking this course Canada has adopted a policy quite different from that followed by other North American countries, and it is true that the long tradition of our history and the link of the common Crown which we share with the other members of the British Commonwealth of Nations were potent factors in the decision made. But it is highly significant and not to be forgotten that our entrance into the war was made as a result of a purely Canadian decision, based upon the glowing and immediate perception by Canadians of the issues involved and in the light of Canada's own interests, truly interpreted.—Winnipeg Free Press.

The Right Place for Them

Admiral Byrd's 27-ton cruiser, which has just completed its voyage from Chicago to the Boston army base, is a thing which has to be seen to be believed. Once seen, it makes one happy as well as proud to know that it will soon be travelling around the Antarctic Continent, where it cannot hold up 70,000 motor cars and create a 50-mile traffic jam, as it did in Massachusetts on Sunday.

We have had many forecasts of the automobile of the future, but not even that far-seeing genius, Mr. Norman Bel Geddes, is likely to dream that this is it—not even if he raids the lee-box and eats an entire mince pie before going to bed. Yet 20,000,000 snow cruisers roaming the highways of the United States, breaking through the bridges, falling into creeks, rolling into wheat fields, rearing up like dinosaurs to protect the right-of-way, would no doubt reduce the traffic mortality to a minimum. No one could get hurt unless he went to sleep in one of the few unoccupied places in the road.

Life would take on a massive and slow-moving dignity. The driver who now holds the wheel with one finger of his right hand, the other hand gracefully clutching the top of the window frame outside, would become a grave and serious man, preoccupied beyond speech by the task of controlling power delivered separately to four mighty wheels.

But we are glad, on the whole, that things are more or less as they are. If snow cruisers have to come they will come, but we trust that they will not be epidemic in this generation.

In Antarctica they may do very well, indeed. One fervently hopes so. A small but conspicuous percentage of American motorists, including those who cut in, those who run red lights and those who dart out of concealed side roads, might do well in Antarctica, too. Can't Admiral Byrd take some of them with him, please?—New York Times.

Sixty years ago this evening, on November 29, 1879, Toronto had one of the most sensational theatre fires in Canadian history. The Grand Opera House, then considered the most lavish playhouse in Canada, was burned to the ground and two of its caretakers were cremated in the ruins. The theatre was only five years old, but within that time it had held great audiences to listen to and applaud the greatest stars, dramatic and musical, of that era. The opening performance, September 23, 1874, was under the patronage of Lord and Lady Dufferin when Sheridan's "The School for Scandal" was presented, a safe choice since the governor-general was a descendant of the famous Irish playwright.

No time was lost in rebuilding the Grand. In two months a new theatre was ready. It had a capacity of 1,750, and seldom were any of its seats unfilled, for during the last 25 years of the century the Grand featured casts starring Henry Irving, Ellen Terry, Adelina Patti, E. H. Sothern, Sara Bernhardt, Fanny Davenport, Lillie Russell, Louis Keene, Clara Morris and many minor stars.

Your Health — By Dr. Frank McCoy

In diabetes mellitus the body no longer burns sugar properly. This refers not only to sugar foods but also to the starches, which are changed by digestion into sugar.

The term "mellitus" means "honey" or "sweet" and diabetes means "to flow through." A liberal translation is "the flowing through of sugar," which is a good description of this disease, in which sugar actually flows uncontrolled through the body. Part of the excess sugar is gotten rid of through the kidneys.

While diabetes is probably growing more common, it need not be as serious as it used to be. One reason for this is that we know more about treating the mild or moderate cases with diet, and another reason is that many cases can be managed with insulin.

Two types of diabetes are known, but the one which I shall discuss today is diabetes mellitus, the more serious disorder. This disease is most common in the fifties, is found more frequently among men than women, is most prevalent among those living in cities, and is often found among members of the Jewish race. As 9 out of 10 who become diabetic are overweight long before the disease appears, it has been called a disease of feeding and fatness.

The chief cause of diabetes is the continued use of an excessive amount of carbohydrate, both in the form of sugar and starch. Such use brings on obesity and also throws a strain on the organs of digestion, including the pancreas. When excessive amounts of sugar are found in the liquid waste from the kidneys, this is a sign that the pancreas is unable to handle the large quantity of carbohydrate which the patient has been using.

The pancreas provides a special substance called insulin, which is needed to burn sugar in the body. In diabetes, some of the cells which secrete insulin are damaged and as a consequence, the body loses some of its ability to burn sugar. Often a limited amount can be burned, but the patient will be unable to use the large amount of sugar and starch which he is in the habit of using.

In spite of the potential seriousness of this disease, it is often easily controlled in the average patient of middle age. If the proper dietary treatment is started in time, the symptoms do not grow any worse and may completely disappear. As a general rule, the sugar disappears from the kidney elimination while the patient is following a careful diet.

McKenney On Bridge

By WM. E. McKENNEY, America's Card Authority

This is the eighth of a series of 18 articles on the Vanderbilt Club Convention.

All opening two bids (with the exception of two clubs) are made on weak hands and are primarily made for interference purposes or to indicate a possible non-vulnerable save, since the nature of the hand upon which such a bid is made, while weak, is freakish. Two diamonds, however, is rarely bid, because of its lack of the interference quality.

The opening two bid is most effective when the bidder holds a long string of spades, although it is moderately effective with hearts. Its chief virtue rests in the fact that it interferes mildly with the partnership bidding of the opponents and, in some cases, causes the opponents to choose a wrong final game contract.

In other cases they may be spurred on by the interference bid to contract for a non-makable slam. Hence, with opponents of certain temperaments, this bid may be used as a double-cross. For example a bid of two spades may spur the opponents to take what they deem to be appropriate action, and only discover too late that the bid had real teeth.

When an opening bid of two spades or two hearts is made partner is not expected to take action, except to raise with a strong hand, or possibly to make a game-saving overbid. The bid never causes partnership trouble, because partner knows that theoretically the opening two-bid shows a weak hand. For example, open two spades with: spades, K Q 9 8 7 4; hearts, 4 2; diamonds, 2; clubs, 4 3 2; or spades, K J 8 4 3 2; hearts, 2; diamonds, K 4 3; clubs, 4 3 2; or even spades, K J 9 7 6 5; hearts, Q 4 2; diamonds, none; clubs, 10 9 8 7; such a bid simply indicates that with spades as trumps we will take four or five tricks yourself.

Naturally, should your side be vulnerable, the hand upon which an opening two-bid is made must be substantially stronger to guard against the danger of too great penalties. Vulnerable, the practical minimum should be something like: spades, A K 10 9 3 2; hearts, 2; diamonds, Q 10 8 7; clubs, 3 2.

This hand not only holds much greater values on offense, but at the same time has some value on defense against an opposing contract.

Premier Chamberlain's Speech in Commons

LONDON, Nov. 29—Following is a partial text of Prime Minister Chamberlain's speech in the House of Commons Tuesday:

The war as it is now being carried on has been called a siege war, and so far as land operations are concerned that is not an inappropriate term, but on the sea the state of affairs is very different. There the fight is being carried on in deadly earnest, and if up to now there have not been any fleet actions there have been a number of individual combats of very considerable severity.

No one can have read without deep emotion the account this morning of the heroic action in the North sea by those naval reservists and naval pensioners who manned the Rawalpindi. These men must have known as soon as they sighted the enemy that there was no chance for them. But they had no thought of surrender.

FOUGHT UNTO DEATH

They fought their guns until they could be fought no more, and then many of them went to their deaths. They thereby carried on the great traditions of the royal navy, and their example will be an inspiration to those who come after them. That was an action which although one-sided was not one in which one can say that the enemy was breaking the generally recognized rules of naval warfare. But this has not been the case in other respects.

We cannot of course expect that in time of war the high seas of the ocean will be as safe as they are in time of peace, but certain rules have been laid down for the conduct of war at sea in international law and international conventions and those rules have been laid down and designed in the interest of general humanity.

Unfortunately we are today fighting an enemy who seems to have no code of honor and who breaks every convention on the flimsiest pretext if he thinks it will serve his purpose. As a result of the numerous indefensible actions of Germany in contravention of the agreements and conventions to which she herself subscribed, the Allies have been compelled to take measures indicated in the order-in-council which will be published today.

WORTH SACRIFICE

We recognize that these measures which involve the seizure of German exports may cause inconvenience and perhaps loss to neutrals. But from the point of view of defence, of their own interests, their shipping and the lives of their own citizens who are grievously injured by German action, these measures, if they bring our efforts to a successful issue, may well be worth some sacrifice on the part of neutrals at present.

All the same we intend to do our best to cause the least possible injury to neutrals, with whom we have no quarrel, always consistent with our purpose of stopping German exports. We have in the order-in-council placed a date for its coming into operation which is purposedly fixed at Dec. 4 in order to give ample time for them to make preparations for it.

At present there are no special events for me to record in the operations on land or in the air.

The enemy will welcome the announcement that an agreement has been reached in Ottawa for the main principles and methods on which a great inter-dominion scheme for training pilots is to be carried out. This scheme we regard as of the utmost value and importance to our mastery of the air.

ANSWERS ATTLEE

Mr. Attlee (leader of the opposition) is concerned that we should not be content merely with our determination to defeat the enemy, thereby accomplishing our war aim, but that we should at once get to work on a definition of our peace aims and that we should initiate what he described as planning beforehand for a new and better world.

I was sorry to hear he was disappointed with what I said on that subject last Sunday evening, but I am relieved to think that his disappointment was not universally felt throughout the world. It occurred to a number of people, though not, I think, to him, that peace aims can be achieved when war is over cannot be laid down by this country alone but that others will have to be consulted.

There will be the dominions. There will be the Allies. It may even be that there will be the vanquished also to be taken into consultation before we can decide now this new and better world is to be laid out. I should like to make one observation on peace aims which I think has not been made before. This idea of building a better world does not require war to bring it into men's minds. Every statesman who has any right to such a name has been hoping and trying to improve the general condition of the world whenever he had any opportunity of doing so.

GERMANY IS OBSTACLE

But the conditions in which Europe has been kept for such a long period by the policy of Germany has made it shockingly impossible to make any progress in the task of improving world conditions on a scale which we would like to see.

When I spoke on that subject on Sunday I said that the conditions in which peace aims could be achieved could not at present be foreseen. I did not say they were remote. I do not know. I said they could not be foreseen. I say now that none of us knows how long this war is going to last, none of us knows in what direction it is going to develop, none of us knows that when it is ended, who will be standing by our side and who will be against us.

In those circumstances it would be absolutely futile, indeed, worse than futile, it would be mischievous, if we were to attempt to lay down today the conditions in which a new world is to be created. While you may lay down general principles of that kind it is no use at the moment to say that such machinery shall be set up in order to carry them out because you do not know whether it will be possible in conditions which will then prevail.

NO VINDICTIVE PURPOSE

We have not attempted this war with any vindictive purpose, and we do not therefore intend to impose a vindictive peace. We say that first of all we must put an end to the menace under which Europe has lain for so many years, and we can do that if confidence can be established throughout Europe. While I am not excluding the necessity for dealing with other parts of the world, I feel that Europe is the key to the situation and that if Europe could be settled the rest of the world would not prove so difficult a problem. If we could establish that confidence, then many a thing which seemed difficult or impossible in the past might prove to be, if not easy, at any rate attainable.

Mr. Attlee has said that imperialism must be abandoned. He did not define imperialism nor did he say what country he had in mind as being specially open to him today. I really do not know what he meant.

But if imperialism means the assertion of racial superiority, if it means the suppression of political and economic freedom of other peoples, if it means the exploitation of the resources of other countries for the benefit of the imperialist country, then I say that those are not the characteristics of this country but they are the characteristics of the present administration in Germany.

EMPIRE TREATMENT

In this country, whatever may have been the case in the past we have not thought of treating the British empire on the lines which I have described. For years now it has been a generally accepted dogma not confined to any part in this house, that administration of colonial empires to be of use to be conducted primarily in the interests of the peoples or countries concerned.

I agree with him (Mr. Attlee) when he quoted Lord Baldwin as saying that if the League (of Nations) were to come to an end the first thing we would have to do would be to build it again. He was following up a line of thought which must present itself to the minds of many who are familiar with what the league is doing today.

As an international instrument for preserving peace, the league has been a failure, but in its work in other directions, in the study of economic and social questions, in international co-operation and collaboration, in matters of health and morality and in other directions, the league has done and is doing valuable work, the scope of which has not been sufficiently recognized.

INFORMATION CAN HELP

I believe that when the war is ended it (the League) may perform a valuable service to the world as a whole by putting at our disposal information which it and it alone is in a position to collect.

When I also suggested that even in this country it is possible now to plan what changes and reforms would be appropriate at the end of the war, I am obliged to say that we do not know enough about the conditions that will prevail at the end, about the changes that will inevitably have taken place before the end of the war, to be confidence that it is possible today to make a plan which will be useful then.

In the last war similar ideas were advocated, although not so early. I remember how a minister of reconstruction was appointed. I remember the pamphlets and books that were written upon reconstruction, all fancy plans which were developed by statesmen to give us a new world shortly after the war was over, and I remember the disillusionment that came afterwards. But it was not good intentions that were wanted. Everybody had good intentions, but conditions did not exist to be what they had been expected to be.

MUST WIN WAR FIRST

In the end, though, no one who looks at what has happened during the last 20 years could fairly say that we learned no lessons from the last war. Nevertheless one lesson that we might learn is that we had better win the war first. While not forgetting what is to come afterwards, let us not entangle ourselves by going too closely into schemes which it may be quite impossible to put into operation when the time comes.

We shall need all our courage, all our resolution and patriotism to achieve our war aims. Let us not make the mistake of underrating the strength of our enemy. When we have achieved that aim, then indeed we may find that we require even greater vision and even greater will to win peace than it has taken to win the war. I do not doubt that when the time comes there will be those who will have the vision and he will, and I trust that they may have greater fortune in fulfilling their own ideals than those had who were left to win peace after the war of 1914-18.

WAR HASTENS COLLAPSE OF DEBT SYSTEM

Manning Says Only Hope For Country Is New Financial Order

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

KILLAM, Nov. 29—The present war is hastening the collapse of the present economic system by piling up the debt structure and the only hope for the country is a new financial order which will be ready to step in when the old structure crumbles, declared Hon. E. C. Manning, provincial secretary, at a meeting here Monday. About 500 persons attended the meeting, which was also addressed by Premier William Aberhart.

The Social Credit party should stand fast and ready with a strong organization, stated Mr. Manning, who said that Alberta was the dominion's only hope as she had already started to build a new order. He pointed out that although many people had forgotten economic reform at the present time because of the war, that the principles at stake in the present conflict were of the greater importance. Dictatorial principles must be crushed, while financial dictatorship could be changed by the people, he stated.

LISTENS IN EVERYDAY

Premier Aberhart gave a brief review of the work done by the Social Credit government since taking office in 1935 and outlined some of the changes that the government hoped to be able to make. Speaking of education, the premier stated that school buildings must be improved and education extended. He pointed out that the present educational system has found culture to be in the things people do every day and not in Latin and Greek.

OFFICERS NAMED

Thirty-six delegates attended the Social Credit constituency convention held during the afternoon, when the following officers were re-elected by acclamation: James Gordon of Strome, president; T. Israel Miller, Alliance, vice-president; and James Murray, Sedgewick, secretary-treasurer. Delegates elected to attend the convention in Calgary early in 1940 were James Gordon, Strome; K. V. Caplar, Strome, and Don. Magrae, Daysland.

A. E. Fee, M.L.A., presided as chairman.

Camrose Hears Two Social Credit Speakers

CAMROSE, Alta, Nov. 29—The Camrose normal school auditorium was filled to capacity last evening to hear Premier Wm. Aberhart and Hon. E. C. Manning. Hon. Jas. A. Marshall of Bashaw, Camrose member for the federal spoke a few words after which the meeting was given over to Hon. E. C. Manning. After introducing Premier Aberhart, Mr. Manning said the war situation has produced an entirely new set of circumstances which our citizens should consider most seriously. The strain of war conditions tends to divide people into groups holding contradictory ideas.

The speaker suggested in these times it is most important that our citizens analyse the whole question intelligently.

The huge debts incurred through the war will hasten the collapse of the present financial system, he said.

The premier spoke at some length pointing out that the country has to go to war.

"We realize we had no other course. We have no desire to make political meeting out of gatherings. Our whole intentions are, the continuance of the educational program so people will do what is right, not only from a war standpoint but from an economic standpoints.

"Extremes in the emotional and patriotic attitude of people should be avoided.

"There is nothing to be gained by charging each other with disloyal tendencies."

400 R.A.F. Fliers On Casualty List

LONDON, Nov. 29.—The air ministry Tuesday issued a casualty list which brought to 400 the number of Royal Air Force men lost since the war began. Sixty have been killed in action with the enemy; 81 are missing, 15 are prisoners, and 244 either were killed or died while on active service.

PROVINCIAL BRIEFS

GRANDE PRAIRIE

GRANDE PRAIRIE PIONEER PASSES

An old-timer in every sense of the word, Henry Roberts of Bear Lake, passed away at his home late Tuesday at the age of 87 years. Born at Bronte Hill, Ontario, in January of 1852, Mr. Roberts was married to Miss Mary Jones of Parry Sound on December 9, 1879. Had he lived a few days longer, the aged couple would have celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary.

With farming experience in Ontario, South Dakota and Carlyle, Sask., the Roberts family arrived in Edmonton in 1902. In January of 1909, they embarked on their great adventure, the winter overland trail to Grande Prairie by way of Athabasca, Grouard and Sturgeon Lake. The arduous journey took two months.

During the years between their first log cabin in the clearing to their present fine home on the shores of Bear Lake, their door has always been open to the stranger. Past president of the Old Timers' association, Mr. Roberts, with Mrs. Roberts, never failed to attend the annual Old-timers' picnic, though of late years he has held court sitting in his chair.

He is survived by his wife, three sons, William, Fred and Walter, all farming near Bear Lake, and three daughters, Mrs. Lance Smith, Edmonton; Mrs. W. Reed, Regina, and Mrs. Bert Bessent, Grande Prairie. Funeral arrangements will be held Thursday from the Lake Saskatoon hall; interment will be in the Lake Saskatoon cemetery.

LLOYDMINSTER

Lloydminster citizens are proud of its native son, Otto John Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Peterson, who, following a successful career through school and university, has enlisted in the R.C.A.F. and now holds the rank of flying officer. He is stationed at Halifax, N.S.

Graduating with a scholarship from the Lloydminster high school in 1933, Otto attended the University of Saskatchewan for three years. While there he secured two scholarships and graduated with a B.A. degree. Completing his studies at the Saskatchewan university, he entered the University of Manitoba for one year and in June, 1937, entered an insurance office at Waterloo, Ont. In October, 1938, he joined the R.C.A.F. as an officer at Trenton, Ontario, and received his wings in May of this year.

BREMNER

Mrs. R. Proctor, of the executive of the Edmonton Red Cross, addressed a meeting at the home of Mrs. Andrew Bodell in Bremner last week. There was a very good attendance at the meeting. After Mrs. Proctor's talk, Mrs. P. R. McCalls, chairman, called the meeting to attention, and it was then decided whether the Bremner ladies should organize a regular auxiliary of the Edmonton Red Cross or whether they should be done under the United Farm Women of Alberta, and donated to the Red Cross.

A large majority voted in favor of a Red Cross Auxiliary. Officers elected were: President, Mrs. George Ottewell; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. F. R. McCalls; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Andrew Bodell; social committee, Mrs. W. S. Foster, Mrs. Stanley Dixon and Mrs. L. L. Piercy; caterer, Mrs. Frank Latum. Meetings will be called by the executive only when necessary.

Mrs. Bodell served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

DONALDA

The dance sponsored by the war work committee of the Donalda branch of the Red Cross society drew a large attendance. The draw for the bedspread, donated by Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Paterson, was won by Mrs. E. Gaylor of Meeting Creek. The committee now has more than $90 to use for purchasing material, and at the next session of Mrs. G. M. Bikse, the distribution committee has given a large supply of yarn and other materials to be used in making articles for the soldiers.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Johnson of Lewiston, Idaho, who have been guests at the home of Mrs. Johnson's mother, Mrs. W. Pickering, have left for their home in the United States.

Mrs. S. C. Otteson and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Otteson visited Camrose recently.

HANNA

A very successful horse sale was conducted by W. E. Fitzsimmons, Ltd., of Edmonton, at Hanna on Saturday. Some 65 head were sold, prices ranging up to $100.

With the continued good weather, all threshing has been completed in this district. The crop return was better than expected in view of the dry spell, averaging about 20 bushels to the acre.

A new service station with lunch counter and rest room is being built by the Richardson Oil Co. of Calgary on the west end of Main street in Hanna. The Texaco station is being remodeled and will contain a rest room.

The annual gathering of old timers at Hanna was held in the Memorial hall on Thursday, Nov. 30, at 8 p.m.

TROCHU

Funeral services were held last week for Mrs. S. Kahler. Services were held from the German Baptist church with Rev. O. Fiesel officiating. She is survived by her husband and two daughters, Ella and Adeline. Mrs. Kahler died as a result of an explosion of gasoline at her farm home east of Trochu recently. Her husband and daughter, Ella, are still in a Calgary hospital recovering from burns. Interment was made in the Baptist cemetery.

SYLVAN LAKE

The November meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. A. S. McClean. Hostesses were Mrs. J. H. Murdock and Mrs. A. A. Sims. Miss Helene Kingsley gave a paper on Canada's Law Courts. The institute will hold a bazaar Nov. 29 and a card party Dec. 15. The December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. R. Speedie.

Under the direction of their leader, Miss Jessie Cameron, the Sylvan Lake Girl Guides held a successful card party last week.

ATHABASCA

SCOUT OFFICIAL SEES NEW TROOP

R. H. Johnston, executive secretary of the Alberta provincial council of the Boy Scouts association, paid an official visit to Athabasca's newly organized Boy Scout troop and Wolf Cub pack Monday evening. After conferring with the Scout leaders, Mr. Johnston met the boys privately as they ran through a special meeting to demonstrate their abilities. Mr. Johnston was highly impressed with the progress the boys have made in just four weeks' work, and at the growth of the troop and cub pack to a strength of 51.

Athabasca lady curlers reorganized at their annual meeting Monday evening when Mrs. E. K. Wright was re-elected president. Mrs. G. B. Lewis was re-elected vice-president and Miss Nadine Everitt was elected secretary. The club is planning for eight rinks this year.

WHITECOURT

SOCIAL EVENING HELD BY LADIES

A social evening was sponsored by the local Ladies' Aid in the United church Saturday night. The main item on the program was a set of slides on the life and good memories by Rev. T. Snedden of Mayerthorpe. Mr. Snedden was ably supplemented by Mrs. J. Graham on the violin, D. Nisbet on the accordion, and Mrs. F. Harrison at the organ, while recitations were given by Mrs. A. J. Topping and Mrs. A. McMurry. Mr. Snedden conducted church Sunday morning in the United church, while the evening service was conducted by Kenneth Leary, of Calgary. Both were well attended and enjoyed.

E. Birch and Miss May Otterholm left Whitecourt Monday morning to be married in Edmonton. They will remain there for a few days.

Mrs. Mary Morris, of Saskatoon, is visiting Mrs. Al McNaille, of Whitecourt.

CLIVE

G. Vanderzyl has been elected president of the Clive branch of the Red Cross society, while Mrs. V. P. Winter has been named secretary-treasurer. Another member of the executive are D. Butterworth, J. N. Martin, Mrs. C. Coole and Mrs. C. Sutton.

HARDISTY

At a very successful high school party held Friday in the I.O.O.F. hall at Hardisty the Students' Assembly entertained as their guests, the staff and pupils of the Lea and Lougheed high schools. President G. Chopey presided as master of ceremonies.

RED DEER

ROTARIANS HOLD SOCIAL EVENING BLUE IS SPEAKER

The Buffalo hotel was the scene of an enjoyable gathering on Monday evening when Red Deer Rotarians held a ladies' night. Rotarians, their wives and guests, in all over one hundred, sat down to a splendid banquet. R. Bercovitch president of the club, was a capable chairman.

After the banquet, John Blue, secretary of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, gave a fine address, "Small Town and Progress End". Mrs. Ethel Banister, Red Deer, and J. Rock, Edmonton, sang solos. Mrs. E. G. Johns, Red Deer, was accompanist. The quiz contest was won by Mrs. T. O'B. Gore-Hickman and Mrs. D. J. Gunn cut the bride's cake. An impromptu dance brought the evening to a close.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. John Blue, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Whyte and J. Rock, Edmonton; Rev. D. G. Cairns, Mrs. and Mrs. Smith, Delburne; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Clarke, Sylvan Lake.

Mrs. Whyte was the committee in charge of the evening.

Christmas Seal Campaign Opened

Members of the Red Cross Rotary Club have launched their annual campaign for sale of Christmas seals in the fight against tuberculosis. Forty Rotarians, under the direction of Dr. C. B. Bunn, chairman of the Christmas Seal Committee, mailed out seals and accompanying letters to the people in Red Deer and district who have supported them in other years. Proceeds from the campaign go toward the upkeep of the Rotary Health Camp at Sylvan Lake. Every summer for several years, sale of seals has been the means of providing a real holiday at the Camp for a hundred boys and girls from the city and district.

Members of the Red Deer subsocial of the Alberta Teachers' Association met in the High School for their regular monthly meeting. Discussions on silent reading were led by Miss Dorothy McMurry for Division I and by W. G. Findlay for Division II. D. J. W. Oke gave results of a survey of silent reading made in the High School. An interesting film on conservation of natural resources was shown. Social activities will be discussed at the December meeting which will be held before the Christmas holidays.

BUSBY

All threshing has been completed in the district. Many of the roads are very rough throughout the district.

Under the direction of Miss V. Reynolds, school basketball games and a full card party was held in the Busby school last week-end. Proceeds will be used for a Christmas tree for the children.

BAND FUND IS CLIMBING AS APPEAL MADE

Instruments for the band of the Edmonton Regiment seemed much closer Wednesday as Lt.-Col. Michaels, collector of the fund, announced donations to date of nearly $1,500 with more coming in daily as he can get around to interviewing "prospects".

It is hoped that the fund will be completed by early date and the instruments obtained so the band can continue practices.

Lt.-Col. Michaels' guiding Sheddon has submitted to Mr. Michaels a list of required instruments for the band, which will number 25 when at full strength. There are still a few vacancies in the band and applicants should apply at Edmonton Regimental headquarters, Prince of Wales Armory.

The Canadian Legion has agreed to donate one instrument to the band.

Following is the list of donations received for the fund:

Mrs. A. P. Pellet, $30; Mrs. A. Sunley, $50; Mrs. Wood and James Ramsey, $500; T. Eaton & Co., Ltd., $50; Dr. Fredrick Ltd., $10; J. Taylor, $5; W. A. Griesbach, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., M.C., K.C., $25; H. A. Robinson, M.C., $50; Northwestern Utilities, Ltd., $50; Army and Navy store, $25; Gottlieb's Bakery, $25; Weiner Bros., $25; Total, $1,410.

In addition to the above a number of smaller donations have been received.

SOCREDS RESUME CAUCUS SESSION HERE WEDNESDAY

Social Credit members of parliament caucus, which re-convened Tuesday after a week-end lay-off, continued Wednesday. Discussions centered around the program of Social Credit members at the next parliamentary session which is expected to open in January. The tariff, the railway ownership problem, attitude on various economic questions and monetary and banking reforms are the questions being considered.

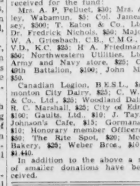

Capt. Victor W. Quelch, M.C., M.P. for Acadia, permanent chairman of the caucus, is presiding. John H. Blackmore, M.P. for Lethbridge and house leader of the group, is among those attending.

It is expected the caucus will last throughout the week with night sittings being held if necessary to complete business.

New Trial Ordered Appeal Court Case

Submission by Neil D. MacLean, K.C., that the trial judge had erred in summing up the evidence resulted in a new trial being ordered by the Alberta court of appeal in the appeal brought by James Graham, Edmonton, against conviction and one year sentence imposed on him by His Honor Judge J. L. Crawford on a charge of living off the avails of prostitution.

A new trial was ordered also on the charge of keeping a bawdy house.

Handicraft Guild Decides At Annual Meeting To Arrange Display In December

Betty Kemp Is Married On Tuesday

FOCUSSING the attention of many friends in the city and district a very pretty ceremony was performed in Central United church on Tuesday evening when Helen Irene "Betty" Kemp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kemp of Edmonton became the bride of Douglas S. Archer, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Archer, also of this city.

Rev. A. F. Marsh, pastor of the church officiated at the ceremony at the hour of eight o'clock.

TEAL BLUE FROCK

A charming frock in teal blue, with accessories to contrast in deep burgundy shade was the costume the bride chose for her marriage. The dress was afternoon length and brightened by a shoulder corsage of blush pink roses.

Miss Doreen Kemp, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and wore a becoming informal frock in tea rose. Her accessories were navy blue and her corsage was of pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception in compliment to the bride and bridegroom was arranged at McCauley Community League hall where approximately 150 guests extended their best wishes to the happy couple. Mrs. C. E. Archer who received the guests was smart in a frock of wine velvet with tawny yellow roses in her corsage.

For the occasion the hall was attractively decorated in shades of pink and white, and in the centre were two tables, one at which the bridal party sat and the other from which tea was served.

BRIDE'S TABLE

The bride's table lighted by the flame from tall white tapers was centred by the tiered wedding cake embroidered in tulle. Baby mums in tones of pink were used as floral decoration and the cloth that covered the table was made by Mrs. Falls, of London, Ontario, grandmother of the bridegroom.

Satin ribbons were attached to the corners of the table from a wedding bell suspended from the ceiling.

Mrs. James Ronaldson and Mrs. J. Wilson presided at the tea urns, at a table attractively set with flowers and tapers.

Toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. Marsh. Dancing was arranged following the serving of refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Archer plan to make their home in Edmonton.

Mrs. J. Boyd McBride Is Re-Elected President At Tuesday Meeting

EDMONTON branch of the Canadian Handicraft Guild are arranging a tea and display of handicrafts in the Senate chamber of the University of Alberta on Saturday, December 9, when displays of work by the Sudeten Germans of the Peace River district, Ukrainian work from people in Saskatchewan, baskets, weaving, parchments, pottery, leather work and novelties will be shown as well as a Japanese exhibit loaned to the guild by Miss Betty Cooper.

Arrangements for the tea were discussed at the annual meeting of the guild held in the Macdonald hotel on Tuesday afternoon.

EXECUTIVE FOR COMING YEAR

Executive for the coming year were appointed, with Mrs. J. Boyd McBride again holding the post of president.

The executive includes Mrs. W. A. R. Kerr, honorary president; Miss J. F. Montgomery, honorary vice-president; Mrs. McBride, president; Mrs. H. W. Hewetson, first vice-president; Mrs. George D. Hunt, second vice-president; Mrs. J. O. Stein, third vice-president; Mrs. Sidney B. Woods, fourth vice-president, and Miss Eleanor Crawford, secretary-treasurer.

Other members of the executive are Mrs. Ackland, Mrs. J. J. Anderson, Mrs. Perren Baker, Mrs. M. D. Baker, Mrs. Charles A. Brine, Mrs. A. W. Douglas, Miss Charlotte Driscoll, Mrs. P. J. Fleming, Mrs. Morton Hall, Mrs. J. K. Hall, Mrs. R. L. Hear, Mrs. G. J. Hope, Mrs. William Inglis, Mrs. Leslie Irwin, Mrs. Frederick Jamieson, Mrs. John Jamieson, Mrs. George Keltie, Mrs. A. R. McKay, Mrs. Grant McConachie, Miss Sybil Primrose, and Mrs. Arnold Taylor.

Nominations were presented by the committee headed by Mrs. Hewetson, Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Russell.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

President's report was presented by Mrs. J. Boyd McBride, who outlined the work of the guild during the past year. Judges were appointed by the guild to assist with the Girl Guides' handicraft exhibit, the Federated League of Edmonton district competition for the C. Woodward Ltd. shield, and the handicraft section of the annual provincial meeting of the Alberta Women's Institute held in Edmonton the past year.

It was reported that the Emperor rug has been returned from the Paris exhibition in France, and is now on display in Edmonton Ireland. The blue chieftain rug was unfortunately damaged irreparably when being returned from the Glasgow exhibition.

Reports were also given by Mrs. Joseph A. Cylarke, treasurer, and Miss Sybil Primrose, treasurer of the leather committee of the guild. Mrs. Clarke's retirement from the guild due to pressure of other work was heard with regret.

Members of the guild reiterated their intention to work in co-operation with the work branch of the Canadian Red Cross society.

National dishes of Norway will feature the menu being prepared by members of Central Lutheran Ladies' Aid for their annual "Ladies' Fish Supper" and pre-Christmas bazaar to be held on Thursday evening of this week. The affair will be held in the church hall, 9543 and 100A avenue, and will commence at half-past five o'clock. Rev. and Mrs. C. S. Lystig will be in attendance. In charge of the bazaar is Mrs. S. Hope, Mrs. E. Fielhaber and Mrs. A. Floen. Mrs. L. Foster is convener of the supper and those to assist her Mrs. E. L. Loveseth, Mrs. G. Sorenson, Mrs. R. Olsen and Mrs. R. Olsen.

HELLO, KIDDIES!

Nearly half-way to Edmonton now—it won't be long till you see your old friend Santa in the parade on Saturday!

Had a grand trip today—and last night the Northern Lights played leap frog all over the sky! The toys wanted to get out of the Skyship and play, too. The teddy bears squeaked with excitement and EATON Beauty Doll nearly cried when I told her we had to keep going. But she really didn't mind much; she's so pleased at the thought of all the little girls she's going to meet in EATON'S Toyland in Edmonton!

Be good, children!

Missionary To India To Be Visitor And Speaker In Edmonton This Week

Dr. Chone Oliver Is On Return To India After Year's Furlough

PHASES of her work which has extended over the past thirty-seven years and colorful little views of that fascinating land, India, which has been her home and the scene of her work during those years, will feature the addresses given by Dr. Chone Oliver, missionary to India when she visits in the city this week. Secretary of the Medical Committee of the National Christian Council of India, she has been in close touch with the progress of Christianity during the most telling years of its history in India.

Arriving in the city on Thursday morning, she will address several meetings, one at which members of the various Mission Bands of United Church will be privileged to hear of her work and another at which the Student's Christian Movement body at the university will form the audience.

She will speak in McDougall United Church on Friday afternoon at three o'clock, when W.M.S. women of Edmonton will be in attendance. Mrs. E. Darling will be soloist upon that occasion. On Thursday evening she will speak to a mass meeting in St. Stephen's College, at the university, given under the sponsorship of the S.C.M. Time of the meeting will be announced and the general public is invited.

While in the city en route back to her work in India, where she will complete forty years of service, She will be the guest of Rev. and Mrs. J Frazer Smith. She has been in Canada on furlough for almost a year.

Dresses And Makeup Showing Sane Trend

Home Service

By ALICIA HART

The woman who is beautifully groomed and truly poised takes first prize this season. It's a year to look like a lady—a lady with a personality of her own and a great deal of common sense.

The sometimes coy "family album" effects, achieved by up-swept hairdo's, strapless evening gowns and Gibson Girl blouses, are almost as outmoded now as the drooping eye lid, shoulder-length bob, languid-mannerism get-ups of a few seasons ago.

The trend toward sanity in dress and makeup may be due to the influence of the war or the simple, lady clothes that Paris designers are turning out these days. Or simply to the fact that modern woman found it difficult to keep her hair up, wear a bustle and at the same time be her own active, interesting self.

SOCIALITES ARE CONSERVATIVE

At any rate, at first nights in the theatre and other functions where society gathers (opening of the Horse Show, for instance), there's hardly an upswept coiffure, a bustle or a black ribbon around the throat to be seen. There's no hint of mannishness or severe tailoring in dress but neither are there frills, fol-de-rols and unnecessary froth.

The effects achieved by artful application of makeup are equally sane. Women look handsome or beautiful rather than pretty or cute. Hair is dressed on the neck-line instead of on the shoulders or high on the head. Gone are the results of meticulous brushing and frequent shampooing, as well as skillful arrangement by the hairdresser. Fewer gadgets are worn in the hair. Rinses remain important, but obviously bleached hair is out.

Mascara and eyeshadow are applied sparingly and artistically. Nearly everyone wears rouge—but only a little of it. Faces have a dull mat finish—not a heavily-powdered look.

Improvement in engine boilers and fireboxes has been so great that the power derived from a pound of coal today is nearly three times as great as it was 50 years ago.

You Can Be Proud of a Well-Trained Dog

Give Easy Course in Manners

Rex is the neighborhood pet. A lovable, well-mannered dog—welcome everywhere! His mistress trained him wisely.

A dog quickly responds to teaching if he is praised for good work. If he gets confused during a lesson, a rest and a little encouragement straighten out. A stubborn dog should be handled with diplomacy and a whip should be used rarely—if ever.

Lessons should be given by one person only—and you should use the same tone of voice for each command. Here are the important commands:

1. Praise—"Good dog!" 2. Reproof—"Shame!" 3. Taking his place—"Place!" 4. Approach—"Come!" 5. Lie down—"Down!" 6. Bark—"Speak!" 7. Heel—"Heel!" 8. Sit down—"Sit!" 9. Retrieve—"Seek!" or "Fetch!" 10. To surrender an object—"Give!"

What should you feed your dog, what to do for doggish ailments? Our 32-page booklet describes light diet, grooming, tells how to recognize and treat distemper, other ailments. Gives step-by-step lessons in teaching a dog manners, clever tricks.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "How to Choose and Care for Your Dog" to The Edmonton Bulletin, Home Service, Edmonton, Alberta. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

What To Do

I am planning to spend the Christmas holidays in Bermuda and the clothes problem is worrying me very much. I have never been that far south and do not know what to purchase that would be proper for a complete wardrobe. Could you give me some advice on this problem? MISS S. S. D.

Answer—First, you can travel lightly and be smartly dressed if you build your wardrobe around one or two favorite basic colors, which will reduce your accessories to a minimum. You will need only sport and evening clothes. But be sure they are made of crush resistant materials so you won't be bothered with a lot of pressing. Leaving from a Northern port you will sail in city clothes, carrying a tweed coat. But the next morning will find you in sport attire—knit costumes preferably, which you will wear going and on the return voyage. If you are interested in deck sports, take shorts, a bathing suit and bathing wrap. In Bermuda you will want pastel woolens—sweaters, skirts and separate jackets, washable sport frocks, evening and dinner gowns depending on the length of your visit, an evening wrap, as Bermuda nights are chilly, and sports clothes suitable for tennis, golf and bicycling.

Give Old-Fashioned Pies Modern Twist

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Pie is a plain old-fashioned idea but just look at these modern twists you can give it.

PUMPKIN PIE ICE CREAM

You prepare pumpkin as for pumpkin pie but omit the milk. Use 1 pint of softened vanilla ice cream and 1½ cups of this pumpkin puree. Freeze the mixture until two-thirds frozen. Fill in a baked pie crust, spread the top with whipped cream and set to freeze hard.

GELATIN CUSTARD PUMPKIN PIE

(Filling for one 9-inch pie)

One and a quarter cups cooked pumpkin (canned or fresh), 1-2 cup white sugar, 1-4 cup brown sugar, 1-2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon ginger, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, 3 eggs, one envelope plain unflavored gelatin, 1-4 cup cold water.

Scald milk in double boiler and add slowly to beaten eggs mixed with salt, cinnamon, ginger, pumpkin, nutmeg and sugar. Return to double boiler and cook until custard consistency, stirring constantly. Soften gelatin in cold water, then add to hot custard and stir until dissolved. Cool slightly and pour into baked pie shell. Chill until set and garnish with whipped cream and grated nutmeg just before serving. A crumb crust may be used if desired.

THANKSGIVING ICE

(Serves 6 to 8)

Two cups apple cider, 1 cup sugar, 1-2 cup orange juice, 1 envelope plain unflavored gelatin, 1-2 cup cold water, 1 cup cranberry juice cocktail, 1 banana, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, grated rind one orange, 1 egg white.

Mix cider and sugar and boil ten minutes. Soften gelatin in cold water, and add to cider mixture, stirring until dissolved. Cool and then add orange rind, fruit juices and banana, rubbed through strainer. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg white, freeze until firm, stirring once or twice until mushy. It may be frozen in refrigerator tray, or in crank freezer if desired.

Tomorrow's Menu

Breakfast: Orange and grapefruit juice, griddle cakes, link sausage, syrup, coffee, milk.

Dinner: Cream of spinach soup, toasted split rolls, cheese, chocolate cup cakes, stewed apricots, tea, milk.

Dinner: Round steak patties, mashed potatoes, stewed tomatoes, cabbage salad, Thanksgiving ice, vanilla wafers, coffee, milk.

Raising A Family

Are movies:
A. Bad for children?
B. Good for them?
C. The means of discontent?
D. Suggestive of wrong?

This time I have bitten off a great big bite. To say flatly that movies are bad, good or dangerous for children is being very one-sided and rhetorical, indeed.

Out of all the above answers, however, I am going to close my eyes, not quite tight, and choose B. Movies administering to the needs of children and young people, educational films, those that provide good, hearty laughs, portray beauty and the veritable lessons of fine behavior and courage are surely a gain to youth.

At times the movies can be bad for the screen-struck youngsters who live on a perpetual diet of indiscriminate excitement.

First let's look at it from a physical standpoint. Emotional extreme, or suspended restless action, takes toll of nerved. In real life, one experiences such scenes only once in a month or a year or five years, or never.

To feed the craving for excitement is like pouring pepper into tender stomachs. The more that goes in, the more tasteless become the plainer foods. And nerves are keyed to a pitch of expectancy that finds dissatisfaction with everyday life.

Thus, for two reasons, the small addict who practically lives in the movie theater may be irritable and nervous. First, because he is under constant strain to nerves not calculated to carry such shocks of excitement, and second, because the realities of life may grow stale by comparison.

CAN TAKE 'EM OR LEAVE 'EM

On the other hand, it is astonishing how many children can see pictures and leave them, seemingly untouched by the dramas they behold. It is not because they don't understand them, as many think, for youngsters today are quite well aware of the pitfalls and temptations flesh is heir to; but rather that they class these stories as stories, just as they class books as books.

Yes, too many movies of the wrong sort will have their effect just as anything else that plays on excitement. Children too young for excitement should be kept away from movies. Those who re-live their movies and can't sleep should not go often and should have their pictures picked. The average child should not live at the movie house, but be permitted to see the best pictures available, at most once or twice a week.

Debunker

The bald eagle—national emblem of the United States of America—

You may find the new Grecian bandeau coiffure interesting as an alternative to an evening snood. Use a metallic ribbon about an inch wide and bind it around your head at the natural hairline over your forehead and again across the top of your head. This is effective, particularly if you have a classic profile.

NON-TARNISHABLE METALS

Alloys, such as stainless steel and chromium, usually need no extra polishing. Simply wash in soap and water, rinse in clear water and dry thoroughly with a soft cloth. If further polishing is desired, a paste made of whiting and water may be used.

DOROTHY DIX Says:

It is a curious thing that so few parents ever think it worth while to use any diplomacy in dealing with their children. Apparently it never occurs to them that children react to the application of soft soap just exactly the way that grown people do, and that whether they are gentle and biddable as Mary's little lamb or as balky as an army mule depends altogether on the way they are handled.

Take obedience, for instance, which is, as it should be, not only the first law of the nursery, but the foundation stone of character building. Everywhere about us we see parents beating on their breasts and wailing aloud that they cannot make their children mind them. True, but how do fathers and mothers go about getting obedience from their children?

Ninety-nine times out of a hundred they issue a command in an arbitrary, dictatorial tone of voice that irritates the child and raises every ounce of resentment in his nature. They don't take the trouble to explain to him what it is all about, and why it is best that he should do this and not the other thing.

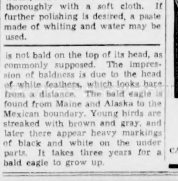

Nor do the average parents use any finesse in correcting their children's faults. They go at them roughshod, regardless of time and place and the youngster's mental attitude, which either turns the little culprits into rebels, or gives them an inferiority complex that blights their lives.

Many parents are committed to the belief that the way to make a child a success in life is to discourage it. I have known many mothers who were always telling their daughters how homely they were, how awkward they were, what big hands and feet they had, and how generally unattractive they were, and then these mothers wondered when their daughters were grown why they lacked the poise and dash that alone kept them from being beauties.

And I have known fathers whose sons grew up into failures just because they had had all of their ambition killed in their childhood by their continually told how dull and stupid they were, and how they could never expect to be anybody, or accomplish anything worth while.

Believe me, diplomacy is just as necessary in the nursery as it is in the drawing room or the business office. DOROTHY DIX.

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly

Exactly How M'sieu Pusie The Windup

NEXT major event in Canadian sportdom is the approaching battle between Winnipeg Bombers and either Ottawa or Sarnia for the dominion football championship. While every fan knows that this final will be played under eastern rules and that eastern rules differ from Western Conference regulations, surprisingly few know exactly how the two codes differ.

You can bring yourself up to date on these points almost at a glance, thanks to a concise and authoritative comparison of the two sets of rules recently made by Eddie Grant, Winnipeg official, who will probably be one of the whistle men in the dominion title game. Here are the differences in a nut shell:

INTERFERENCE

Eastern—Linemen may create interference from anywhere behind the line of scrimmage up to three yards in advance of the line of scrimmage. Backs may create interference up to one yard behind the line of scrimmage.

Western—All players on the attacking side may create interference up to ten yards in advance of the line of scrimmage.

FORWARD PASSING

Eastern—Forward passes must be thrown from a point at least five yards behind the line of scrimmage.

Western—Forward passes may be thrown from any point behind the line of scrimmage.

SUBSTITUTION

Eastern—Players removed from the game may not return to the game in the same quarter.

Western—Players removed from the game may re-enter the game once in the same quarter.

SCORING

Eastern—A kick to the deadball line counts one point, but if the ball is kicked over the deadball line without touching the ground or an opposing player, the team scored on will scrimmage the ball on its own 40-yard line. If, however, the ball touches the ground or an opposing player before crossing the deadball line, the team scored on will scrimmage the ball on its own 25-yard line, the same as after a rouge or safety touch.

Western—If the ball is kicked over the deadball line without touching the ground or an opposing player, no point shall be scored, and the opposing team shall scrimmage the ball on the 25-yard line, the same as after a rouge or safety touch. All other scoring, touchdowns, converts, rouges and safety touches as well as points awarded for fouls committed by a team in its own goal zone, are the same in the west as in the east.

Communique on Jean Pusie

HERE'S the latest bulletin on the activities of M'sieu Jean Pusie, the turbulent habitant who is now playing hockey for Guy Patrick's Vancouver Lions. Edmontonians who saw Pusie perform here during the last Western Canada League will be interested in the report of Hal Straight, sports editor of the Vancouver Sun. Sez Hal:

"It's like a big piece of rhubarb in a dish with a bunch of little pieces of colorless celery (not Utah), the Vancouver hockey club at present and M'sieur Pusie, of course, is the rhubarb.

"In other words, the Vancouver team is the big Frenchman with a lot of other guys bustling around, which isn't a healthy situation no matter what you say. The Lions can have the best dispositions, most unselfish temperaments but sooner or later they are going to resent Pusie taking all the spotlight. After all, who wants to be a colorless hors d'oeuvre all season?

"Guy Patrick agrees with this and claims something will be done about it after the first swing around the triangle when all the fans who are breathlessly waiting for the panoramic pea-souper have seen him. In fact, Patrick claims he and the boys appreciate that the Montreal color scheme is packing the Forum, therefore they are doing everything they can to help him swish his entertainment paint brushes.

"But they won't do it forever. They won't give the big Frenchman all the taffy or help him polish the apple for the clamoring fans. Soon Pusie will be on his own, have to make his own way, claims Patrick.

"Claims Patrick, not us. Pusie doesn't need any help to be colorful. As long as he's out on the ice just wiggling his bushy eyebrows and wagging his big black jaw he'll be the guy they look at . . .

"The defense suffers, is sacrificed to let Pusie fly down the ice. For instance, in two games he has been responsible for three goals. In other words, he is all even. He's scored two and given one assist.

"But somehow I think that will be overlooked because of that indefinable something which makes the pulses prance every time he percolates and the people prance to the Forum every time he plays."

Winding It Up

THERE is considerable chatter in the east these days from coaches as to what should be done to improve football as it is played there. Warren Stevens, U. of T., timidly admits that maybe a little more interference would help. However he shudders when he thinks of the carnage that he feels sure would follow if the backfield were allowed in motion before the ball is snapped. He also thinks the Western Conference is playing "nothing but American football." What quaint ideas you have, Mr. Stevens!

Doug Kerr of McGill apparently learned when he spent a couple weeks coaching Regina this season. He has always been opposed to increased interference, now he thinks the western 10-yard limit is perhaps O.K. He insists however that it be limited to the men on the line of scrimmage. He too is scared of charging backfielders.

The boxing card scheduled for the Edmonton Garrison units at the Prince of Wales Armouries on Thursday night has been postponed until next week.

BRUINS SWAMP MAPLE LEAFS BY 6-2

SPORTS BULLETINS

Third Period Rally Produces Four Goals

BOSTON, Nov. 29.—As if to prove their greatness without Eddie Shore, the super defence star, Boston Bruins rallied for a mighty effort that gave them a 6-2 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs here last night before 12,000.

Shore, under contract to play in all of the Bruins home games after December 15 and before in case of an emergency, disagreed with the Bruins management that his presence was required last night because of Jack Crawford's injury and remained in Springfield to direct his International-American hockey team against the Philadelphia Ramblers.

Herb Cain scored in the first and second periods to build up a 2-1 lead and during the first 15 minutes of the third session, four of the 10 shots the Bruins aimed at Broda ended in his cage, with Roy Conacher, Milt Schmidt, Bobby Bauer and Gordon Pettinger scoring in that order.

Murphy Chamberlain accounted for both of the Toronto tallies, converting Red Horner's pass in the first period and beating Frank Brimsek again in the third period after intercepting a clearing shot attempted by one of the Boston defencemen.

LINEUPS

Boston: Brimsek; Shewchuk, Clapper; Jackson, Cain, Pettinger, Subs: Schmidt, Dumart, Bauer, Portland, Hollett, Cowley, Conacher, Hill.

Toronto: Broda; Horner, Kampman; Taylor; Heron, Metz. Subs: Drillon, Apps, Davidson, Hamilton, Church, Chamberlain, Schriner, Chisholm, Marker.

Referee: Mickey Ion; linesman: Al Smith.

SUMMARY

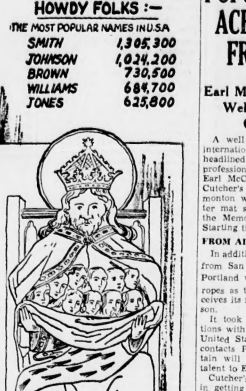

First period: 1—Boston, Cain (Jackson, Hollett), 13:12. Penalties: Hill, Chisholm.

POPULAR MAT ACES FEATURE FRIDAY BOUTS

Earl McCready Is Tops on Well Balanced Card Of Wrestling

A well balanced card, featuring internationally known wrestlers and headlined by the British Empire professional heavyweight champion Earl McCready, is Promoter Mike Cutcher's first offering to the Edmonton wrestling fans as the winter mat season gets under way at the Memorial hall Friday night. Starting time is 8:30 p.m.

FROM ALL STATES

In addition to McCready, wrestlers from San Francisco, Detroit and Portland will climb through the ropes as the popular mat sport receives its first night in the new season.

It took four months of negotiations with leading promoters in the United States to make the present contacts Promoter Cutcher is certain will bring the best mauling talent to Edmonton.

Cutcher's new contacts aided him in getting a starry opponent for McCready. That opponent comes from San Francisco and is Jack Mc-Arthur. He is highly rated, is McArthur, being listed up among the first 10 in grappling.

GOOD SEMI TALENT

Semi-windup talent rates on a par with the main event timber. From Detroit, a red-hot mat centre, comes Jack Kogut, a colorful and well tutored wrestler. Matched against Kogut will be Jack Forsgren, a Portland mauler, who, like McCready, has just completed an extensive tour.

There is a starting bout, too, which will raise the curtain at 8:30 p.m.

SHORES' INDIANS RETAIN LEAD

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 29.—Eddie Shore's Springfield Indians retained leadership of the eastern division of the International-American Hockey League with a 4-2 victory last night over Philadelphia Ramblers.

Springfield opened scoring in the first period, Tommy Shmyr contributing his fifth goal of the season, but Ramblers tied it up when Lloyd Heubel golfed one into the nets and moved in front on Vic Myles' tally. Springfield equalized in the second period on Max Kaminsky's goal and took a lead when Fat Egan scored on a penalty shot in the third period. Their fourth tally came when Thurrier picked up a breakaway while Ramblers were shy a man.

Colvilles Tally Three Points As Rangers Drub Red Wings, 4-1

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—New York Rangers defeated Detroit Red Wings 4-1 last night for their second National Hockey League victory of the season.

A slim crowd of 8,358 saw the Rangers score once each in the first and second period, and twice in the third to end a scoring famine that had left them well down in the league standing before last night's victory put them in a three-way tie with Boston and Chicago for fourth place. The Red Wings held the third slot.

Neil Colville put Rangers in the lead after five minutes of play and Phil Watts added another early in the second period before Don Deacon replied for Detroit on a play set up by Sid Howe and Carl Liscombe.

The Wings outplayed in the first two periods, poured on the pressure in the final chapter but Shibicky stole the puck at his own blue line and set up a goal for Lynn Patrick to put the game on ice for the New Yorkers. In the final minute Shibicky scored again on a relay from Mac Colville.

LINEUPS

Rangers: Kerr; Pratt, Heller; Watson; Hiller, Hextall. Subs: Shibicky, Patrick, N. Colville, L. Patrick, Smith; MacDonald, M. Patrick, Pike.

Detroit: Thomson; Bowman, Goodfellow; K. Kilrea; Liscombe, Dillon. Subs: Stewart, Giesbrecht, Abel; Howe, Bruneteau; H. Kilrea, Keating, Orlando, Deacon.

Officials: Stewart, referee; Stevenson, linesman.

SUMMARY

First period: 1—Rangers, N. Colville (M. Colville, Shibicky), 5:03. Penalties: Howe, L. Patrick.

Second period: 2—Rangers, Hextall (Watson), 7:24; 3—Detroit, Deacon (Howe, Liscombe), 19:57. Penalties: Howe, Hextall.

Third period: 4—Rangers, L. Patrick (M. Colville, Shibicky), 8:29; 5, Rangers, Shibicky (M. Colville), 19:38. Penalty: Stewart.

COAST HOCKEY PLANS NORTH, SOUTH SERIES

SEATTLE, Nov. 29.—Pacific Coast Hockey League directors voted last night to start this season a round robin competition with a circuit which is expected to be launched in California in mid-December.

Guy Patrick, owner of the Vancouver Lions, said after a meeting of the coast league directors that the inter-league play this season would be with an eye to an entire league circuit for next year with northern and southern divisions.

Patrick said the new loop in the south would include San Francisco, Oakland and Sacramento teams, which would launch their schedule the middle of next month. He said the first north-south competition would not start until the first of the year, after all California teams had a chance to "break the ice" in fast competition.

The northern loop includes Portland, Seattle and Vancouver.

Deacon to Help Indianapolis Club In Minor Hockey

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 29.—Herbie Lewis, coach of the Indianapolis Capitals, champion division leaders in the International-American Hockey League, announced that centre Don Deacon of Regina would report to the Capitals today from the National League Detroit Red Wings to help plug holes in the Indianapolis lineup.

Deacon started the season with the Capitals but went to Detroit when Lewis started playing. Since then, Joe Carveth, rookie wingman, suffered a broken ankle and Lewis is out with a severe cut on one heel. Also said Sid Abel may report to the Capitals from the Red Wings by the end of the week.

New Defence Power Called Up to Aid Flyers Against Turner Valley Tonight

COACH ELMER PIPER leads his Gas Gang from Turner Valley into town today and tonight the Edmonton Flyers will see what they can do about it out at the Arena with the first puck due to be dropped at 8:30 p.m. It's an Alberta Senior Hockey League fixture that promises to give the fans a stirring evening.

Southern Alberta clubs are viewing the Turner Valley Oilers with alarm at present and tonight's game here will be watched with exceptionally keen interest by all teams in the league. To some extent the result will answer the question of whether the Oilers' wins over Leithridge and the Flyers' losses to Calgary are dependable guides to their respective calibres.

The Oilers are another club that is making good use of former Edmonton players. Percy Davis, Mayer Flett and Pete Ettinger are three ex-Edmontonians who will be in Turner Valley toggery tonight.

MacKAY TO AID

Coach Eddie O'Keefe has been forced to get a bit of recruiting for his Flyers as a result of army duties making it impossible for Harry Brown to play tonight. Through the generous co-operation of Coach Stan Moher of the University of Alberta Golden Bears, the Flyers will have big Dave MacKay to bolster their defence tonight—a powerhouse that should be a major help.

Since the Golden Bears hold an intermediate rating, MacKay is eligible to step into senior company without quitting the Varsity team. It is a war time ruling of the Alberta Hockey Association, applicable since army duties make it impossible for Brown to play this game.

Another reserve that the Flyers will put into action tonight on their defence system is Benny Woloshyn.

TORCHY PEDEN NOT THROUGH BIKE RACING

Big Redhead Hopes to Aid Building Up Of Thrilling Sport

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. — Torchy Peden, who had thoughts of retirement as far back as 1936, isn't going to quit the six-day bike race business for a while yet—at least not until it gets back some of the prosperity it enjoyed a few years back.

TO HELP GAME

"Six-day bicycle racing has been good to me and I intend to do all I can to put it back on its feet again," Torchy said Tuesday as he lolled around a hotel with Brother Doug recuperating from last week's grind in which the Victoria brothers finished second.

And the way to get back the prosperity, in Torchy's opinion, is to boost amateur riding, develop new stars and de-emphasize the need of international aiarts to provide the race with color.

That program is being advanced slowly, Torchy said. He told of new tracks being built, including ones of Delhi, Ont., and Victoria, and expressed belief "right now there are plenty of amateur riders in the United States and Canada good enough to turn pro."

PRAISES DOUG

The Pedens, with Torchy staging a great comeback recently, at present are one of the top attractions in the circuit. Torchy, whose 34 victories give him more than any other one rider, gives credit for plenty of help to young Doug, with whom he has won six races.

"The big push Doug gives me has been a great help starting me off," Torchy said. "Because of my weight I had to pedal hard before I could get off to the start I get now from Doug."

The game still holds its lure for the red-head, one of the game's biggest stars for more than a decade. He doesn't think there's a sport that provides the thrills comparable to those in the last hours of a race. He would like to see some of the last-minute "oomph" put into the early days of the race as well.

Keltner Seeks Vacation Bonus But is Denied

CLEVELAND, Nov. 29. — Ken Keltner, Cleveland Indians' infielder, batted .600 today in the Social Security League.

He fanned in an effort to bat out a vacation bonus of $240 unemployment compensation insurance.

Keltner, who makes around $7,500 a year as Cleveland's third baseman, applied for state job insurance of $15 a week on the contention he is unemployed this winter.

The Ohio unemployment compensation bureau said no. It explained he was under a year's contract and so had not separated from his employment.

At his Milwaukee home Keltner said:

"I made the claim because I thought I had compensation coming. I am taking the claim out to save everybody a lot of trouble."

Bombers to Move East Next Week

WINNIPEG, Nov. 29.—Manager Joe Ryan of Winnipeg Blue Bombers said Tuesday the western football championship will leave for eastern Canada and the Grey cup final a week today after completing training in Winnipeg regardless of weather conditions.

Bombers will arrive in either Ottawa or Toronto, whichever city is to stage the final December 9, the day before the game.

Iowa Grid Star Picked Best in U.S.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Nile Kinnick, star halfback of the University of Iowa football team, Tuesday was named as 1939 winner of the John W. Heisman Memorial trophy, awarded each year by the down-town athletic club to the outstanding college football player in the United States.

Chabot to Coach Manitoba Varsity

WINNIPEG, Nov. 29.—University of Manitoba's brown and gold hockey squad has started training under Lorne Chabot, former National Hockey League goalie.

The team will play in Winnipeg and District Senior Hockey League and will enter a western intercollegiate league.

Yorkton Hurries Ice-Making Job

YORKTON, Sask., Nov. 29. — Yorkton's hockey officials are tired of waiting for the weather to manufacture some ice so they plan to move a whole sheet into the arena from an adjoining lake.

The contract was let today to provide a surface for the Southern Saskatchewan Senior League game between Yorkton Terriers and the Saskatchewan champions, Saskatoon Quakers, scheduled for next Monday.

The Yorkton club has been practising on the artificial ice at Regina.

Indianapolis Ace Tops Minor Hockey

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 30.—Connie Brown of Indianapolis holds top individual scoring honors in the International-American Hockey League after a week's scoring spree netted him eight points, bringing his season's total to 17.

Two Indianapolis teammates, Joe Vacher and Byron McDonald, were tied for second at 15 points each. Max Kaminsky of Springfield, the league's weekly statistical summary disclosed.

Armstrong-Ambers Bout is Postponed

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—The Henry Armstrong-Lou Ambers welterweight title fight, scheduled for Madison Square Garden Friday night, was indefinitely postponed Tuesday.

Wally Smith Wins Against Chocolate

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Nov. 29.—Wally Smith of Weybridge, Surrey, won a 10-round decision over Young Chocolate of Jamaica here Monday night.

SAINTS BLANK HAWKS

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 29. — St Paul Saints shut out Wichita Skyhawks 2-0 before a crowd of 3,000 last night in the American Hockey Association. Freeman Jack scored in the first period and Bert Connolly in the second.

EAGLES TRIM ROVERS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Washington Eagles of the Eastern United States Amateur Hockey League, defeated New York Rovers 2-1 last night.

Canadian Amateur Dons Approve New Records

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 29—The Olympic games are a "dead issue" for the present, the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada was told Tuesday by P. J. Mulqueen, chairman of the Canadian Olympic committee, after the only exciting moment in the first day of the union's annual convention.

Mr. Mulqueen said he had heard rumors of dissatisfaction with the work of the Olympic committee and mentioned in that connection the name of John Muter of Vancouver.

"If there is any person with a grievance, now would be a good time to get rid of it," he declared.

WAS SURPRISE

"I am surprised at the way this subject has been broached," Mr. Muter said. "I have no grievance but I must admit that the feeling all over Canada is that the Canadian Olympic committee is not functioning properly. They call meetings, get people to travel many hundreds of miles and then call it off."

Explaining the reason for cancelling an Olympic committee meeting scheduled for Tuesday, Mr. Mulqueen said: "In view of recent events Olympics are at the present time a dead issue. No good purpose could be achieved with a war on for holding a meeting, and for that reason it was cancelled."

The union decided to drop the affiliation of the Canadian Ski association. The only reason submitted was that the resolutions committee thought it advisable to drop the affiliation. The International Ski Federation lately failed in an attempt to have entry of professional teachers allowed in Olympic competition.

The following track and field records, submitted by the records committee, were approved:

SENIOR OPEN

75 yards—Marion Borden, Powell River, B.C., 8.5 seconds, made July 1, 1939, at Powell River, B.C.

50 metres—Thelma Norris, Calgary, 7.6 seconds, Sept. 4, 1939.

SENIOR NATIVE

100 yards—Marion Borden, Powell River, B.C., 11 seconds, Aug. 5, 1939, at Powell River, B.C.

SENIOR OPEN AND NATIVE

110 metres—Larry O'Connor, Toronto, 14.8 seconds, Aug. 2, 1939.

Shot put—Eric Coy, Winnipeg, 48 feet, 8½ inches, July 1, 1939.

SENIOR OPEN AND NATIVE (INDOORS)

500 yards—William Fritz, Queen's university, 1:00.8, made April 21, 1939, at Montreal.

440 yards—H. Purdie, Montreal, 56 seconds, April 21, 1939.

880 yards—Lloyd Cosbie, McGill university, 2:05, made at Montreal, April 21, 1939.

18 Million Now Play Game Invented to Aid 18

LAWRENCE, Kas., Nov. 29.—The youth of the world has lost a great benefactor in Dr. James Naismith, the father of basketball, who died here Tuesday. Eighteen million young men all over the world are playing his game of basketball, which he originated for 18 troublesome young men in a class at Springfield, Mass., Y.M.C.A. college in 1891.

Dr. Naismith is directly responsible for all the field houses, the large auditoria and gymnasia where basketball is played today. Before this game was originated there were few large indoor arenas that were suitable for any indoor sports. Dotting the middle Western States are high school gymnasia that are much larger in size than the entire school buildings were 30 years ago.

Home Town Mourns Passing

ALMONTE, Ont., Nov. 29—This quiet little eastern Ontario town learned with regret of the death of Dr. James Naismith, athletic scholar who gave to youth the game of basketball.

Dr. Naismith was born here Nov. 6, 1861, and Monday he died of a heart ailment at Lawrence, Kas. Most of his school day pals had preceded him in death or had left Almonte.

It is better than 50 years since the kindly doctor departed this town. It was at Almonte's high school, studying under the noted Dr. P. C. McGregor, that Dr. Naismith, while playing "duck on the rock," conceived the idea of evolving the game that subsequently became basketball.

Dr. Naismith was left an orphan at the age of eight years and lived here with an uncle. He graduated from Almonte high school and attended McGill University in Montreal.

In April of last year he returned to Montreal Presbyterian College to receive, on the same platform from which he was graduated 49 years ago, the highest honor the college can bestow, the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

Disliked Present Style

TORONTO, Nov. 29.—Decline of offensive play in basketball was deplored by Dr. James Naismith in an address to officials and players here while on a visit last April to the land of his birth.

Present-day rule books had drifted away from the fundamental principle that "it's any man's ball at any stage of the game," he said.

He did not advocate rough play but offensive skill.

"The whole tendency of physical training these days is to tear down the nerves instead of building up physique," Dr. Naismith told the Toronto officials.

Speaking of his experiences, Dr. Naismith said the greatest thrill he ever had was in watching teams representing all nations playing in basketball competition when the game was introduced at the 1936 Olympic games in Berlin.

Spotlighting the Sport Girl

HAVE been reading considerable about the Sportsmen's League, organized in Toronto for the entertainment of soldiers training there, and various girls' softball teams playing benefit games. Several out of town teams, including Cleveland, have offered to play in Toronto with a similar object. And the reported attendance at these games indicate the enlisted men's interest.

There can be no argument about the worthiness of these attempts of the girls to give of their time and efforts. A story was told to me this last week of efforts in a previous war by the three daughters of a minister who in the early 60's, thus before the present jitterbug, Hollywood fashioned way paint and polished finger nails, were content to knit socks for soldiers of the north in the American Civil war.

Pairs of socks in the hundreds were shipped from the little community and in one shipment these three sisters placed their names and addresses in certain sock toes and were later rewarded by letters from three soldiers of different companies but of one regiment. The final result was that the sisters, now Jaer all settled in their own state of New York. The story was related to us by a grand-daughter of one of these families.

The Edmonton public library contains a book by F.A. Webster, of London, entitled "Girl Athletes in Action," and we recommend its careful reading by any track and field girl or coach who cares to study its instructions and observe its many life action illustrations.

HOW names in sport do spring up unexpectedly at times! Over a year ago this column commented on the softball playing of Freda Savonna in an exhibition game on the Boyle Street grounds, here to the effect that she appeared to be the best player this writer had ever seen. Picked up an American magazine this week to read the opinion of Ted Shane, a noted sports commentator, and he writes almost identical words.

And then we read in an eastern paper that Miss Savonne has joined in with Stella Walsh to play basketball this winter for the Rochester, N.Y., Filarets. Repeating our previous remark: "How these girls do get around."

SEVERAL of the eastern leaders of the Women's Athletic Federation, also Miss Mackenzie the (western) president, will be in attendance at the Hamilton meet this week of the A.A.U. and we will be surprised if an impromptu meeting is not held at which these ladies will discuss several matters which may be very important to the federation for 1940 progress.

WE plead with you girls not to be copy-cats of all these stunts that the boys attempt. The report reaches us that a southwestern college team was called on to play a game on Friday field. They were to leave town that evening for a very important (to them) game and in order to keep their suits clean they played the afternoon game in their undies. Lucky boys to have two under apparel outfits.

The coveted Rose Bowl award, donated by Alexandrine Gibb to be known as the Velma Springstead memorial trophy, and which the donor has stated must be voted by the Waaffers' executive though they must consider sports leaders with which the federation has no connection, will doubtless be decided upon this week. Miss Gibb, in per Star column, supports a badminton champion. We surmise that an Ontario track girl will secure it.

In this connection, that is, speaking of track girls, Miss Myrtle Cook, a former Olympic champion, writes: "A sprinter has a long, boresome training grind if she is to obtain top ranking. When the moment of her glory comes, it is a brief one — very often crammed into 12 seconds. Unlike the badminton or tennis player who can tackle an opponent with a backhand, forehand or smash shot, the sprinter has only one shot up her sleeve—to get there ahead of the other fellow. It's a one-way track over which the runner travels and a hard one."

And we might add that the flashy gyrating of a bright uniform and extended limbs under a spotlight seems to attract more attention than the effort of a girl who has earned the title of being the fastest runner in her class and age. Of course, it seems to be our nature to desire something that pleases us for the hour rather than seconds. But that does not honestly diminish the accomplishment of the latter.

Klingspoon, a hard-hitting guy who loves to dish it out and can take it just as well.

"It looks like the Oilers are quite a club this season, but if they beat us tonight they'll know they've been through a hockey game," firmly declared Coach Eddie O'Keefe. "It's going to be a slam-bang battle right from the start. We're going after those goals fast and let the Oilers do the worrying. Despite a few changes that we have to make in our line-up, I'm confident that we've got enough power to battle these Oilers on even terms all the way."

FUNDS EXCEED $60,000 MARK IN RED CROSS

Raymond Sugar Factory Donates $1,000—$250 For City Branch

The Canadian Sugar Factory at Raymond, Alta., has increased the Alberta Red Cross wartime fund with a donation of $1,000, W. J. Dick, campaign chairman for northern Alberta, announced Wednesday. Of the $1,000, the sum of $250 has been allotted to the Edmonton division.

Bringing the war work fund for northern Alberta beyond the $60,000 mark, a number of donations were received Tuesday and Wednesday. Weisdale Dairy Ltd. has contributed $300, with an additional $725 from the dairy employees. A donation of $751.55 has been received from the Vegreville branch of the society.

NEED $75,000

"We are still a long way from our objective of $75,000," declared Mr. Dick, "and we hope that the citizens of Edmonton will aid us in reaching that objective at the earliest possible date. Many have contributed, but there are still a good number of donations to be received.

Following is a partial list of donations:

Macdonald hotel employees, $760; Mrs. M. Gordon, $25; employees Great West Garment, $198; employees H. Birks and Sons, $189.60; Commercial Life Assce., Toronto, $100; W. S. Campbell, $100; employees Blue Ribbon Ltd., $116.40; Blue Ribbon Ltd., $50; H. Birks and Sons, Que, W. B. Ferguson, $50; employees of Monarch Life Insurance Co., $46; employees Oliver Ltd., $41; Local 7311 U. M. of Way, Saunders Creek, Alta., $18.50; Sclex Ltd., $10; Susan McLean, $20; Teachers and Pupils, Meeting Creek School, $6.25.

Leduc, $850; Wembley, $31.70; Edson, $322.35; Mundare, $100; Rumsey, $38.85; Grande Prairie, $782; Alix, $475; Willingdon, $320; Bashaw, $200; Holden, $10; Ft. Saskatchewan, to date, $444.55; Bon Accord, $413.66.

Through The Mill

I am feeling pretty good about everything, see, so I stroll into the city police court to hear the low down on the low downs and run smack into the saddest story of heart-break, disillusionment, and how gone sour that could ever hope to hear. The guy has just pleaded guilty to three charges of possession of stolen property and is on trial for having lived off the avails of prostitution. His 23-year-old common-law wife and mother of their two children is in the witness box telling the cadi all about it.

She meets the guy four or five years ago at a country point, see, and she goes for him in a big way. After all, he is a real live wire looking, loving and kind with a good line. And she's attractive in a quiet, demure way, too, with the result that he goes for her.

So they come into Edmonton to get away from it all and everything is hunky-dory while he is working, but when his job peters out their luck keeps right on working overtime, so she goes out with a hard luck story and brings home the bacon. Then after a while the first kid is born and they decide no more of this stuff for us. Apparently they tried to make a go of it and "lived on the square like a true married pair." But besides the wolf howling outside the door they soon have two kids howling on the inside.

Well the coppers catch her on the prowl one night recently and warn her and this scares her so the next time it gets prowling time she whips down to the cops and tells her story to them. They grab pops and slap him into the jug. She also tells them that the bedding they have has been stolen from rooming houses and a pair of shoes he has for her have been shoplifted. The guy admits this. The cadi slaps him down for four months on each of the retaining charges.

He says he didn't know that the money she brought home was earned the way it was. He thought she just borrowed it from fellows. And he had tried to join the army. Nobody believed him. And he won't have to do any fighting for the next two years. Then the cadi ordered him to spend the next two years less one day at that very unpopular resort on the banks of the Saskatchewan river.

Sidewalk Seers Out On Limb As No Snow Falls

Sidewalk prognosticators who went out on a limb Tuesday afternoon to predict an early winter as dark clouds drifted over the city, were hanging their heads Wednesday morning. No precipitation was recorded in the city during the night.

Local forecast is for fair weather with not much change in temperatures.

Near northern weathermen considered today's cold snap early Wednesday. Light rain was falling at Mirror Landing and Grande Prairie at 8:30 a.m. following showers at Spirit River, Peace River, Father and Grouard yesterday. Total of 14 inch fell Tuesday at Fairview.

Low temperature in the sub-Arctic last night was 29 below at Aklavik. Near northern temperatures ranged this morning from 16 to 40 above.

Edmonton high Tuesday was 44 and the low Wednesday morning 30 above.

Speaks Tonight

PROF. E. H. STRICKLAND

Professor of entomology at the University of Alberta, who will give a public lecture on "Insects and Public Health in Alberta" at a meeting sponsored by the University Science Association, Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. in Convocation Hall.

STRICKLAND TO SPEAK TONIGHT SCIENCE TOPIC

With a view to creating wider public interest in scientific research in Alberta, the University Science association is sponsoring a series of popular lectures which are open to all persons interested. Prof. E. H. Strickland, professor of entomology, will give one lecture in the series at Convocation hall tonight at 8:15 on the topic, "Insects and Public Health in Alberta."

Dr. K. A. Clark, research professor in road materials for the department of industrial research and who will preside at Wednesday's meeting, stresses the fact that the general public should take an interest in research work which affects all citizens and which may play a vital part in their lives.

While considerable research into Alberta problems has been done in the past much more could have been done, it is stated. Support for such work, none too extensive in peace times, now threatens to diminish to vanishing point. In the belief that this unfortunate situation can and should be remedied an organized effort is being made by the Science association of the University of Alberta to raise funds for its further prosecution.

Wednesday's meeting is the first step in this campaign.

Social Service Exchange Opens For Yule Season

Christmas Social Service Exchange has opened for its seventh year with headquarters in Room 206, 10138 98 street, unemployment relief building.

This year the exchange is operating at the request of the Edmonton Council of Social Agencies preparatory to the organization in January of a social service index, as a subdivision of the Edmonton council.

The exchange which has been operating during the Christmas season for the past six years, has promoted greater efficiency in the work because it has prevented overlapping and has also acted as a deterrent in those cases where applicants were moved to appeal to several agencies distributing Christmas Cheer, according to Col. T. C. Sims, chairman of the exchange.

All organizations and individuals distributing Christmas Cheer are invited to check names through the exchange, calling at the office or phoning 25287.

W. E. Sieber is secretary-treasurer of the exchange.

Civil Servants Are Honored By Presentations

Retiring from provincial government service after 33 years' service, George W. Scott, of the agriculture department, was presented with a lamp and chair by fellow-workers Monday. His retirement with that of H. J. Donnelly, of the same department, was announced some time ago. At the presentations Mr Scott was congratulated for his service by Hon. D. B. Mullen, minister of agriculture; J. R. Sweeney, deputy minister; D. H. McCallum, dairy commissioner, and C. P. Marker, former dairy commissioner. In the evening Messrs. Scott and Donnelly were guests of the department staff at a banquet at the Corona hotel. Purses were given the two guests.

SCHOOL BOARD STUDIES FUND FOR SOLDIERS

Retirement Fund Contribution Of Enlisted Teachers Is Problem

Edmonton's Public School board is exploring whether it has power to pay into the retirement fund the three per cent contribution of salaries of teachers who enlist for active service with the Canadian forces.

Request was made Tuesday night to the board by the Teachers' Retirement Fund board that consideration be given by the board to payment of the three per cent contribution for teachers enlisting.

The board, while in sympathy with the request, doubted its power to make the payment, and referred the matter to the finance committee.

RED CROSS AID

Letter of congratulation was sent to the Calgary branch on its achievement in entering two aldermanic and one school board candidate at the recent civic election.

It was decided to send a delegation to the street railway superintendent seeking an improvement in the Calder street service, and representations will be made to the city commissioners regarding condition of sewers in the vicinity of 116 avenue and 124 street.

FORMER MEMBER OF CITY POLICE PASSES IN CITY

A former member of the Edmonton police force and veteran of the first Great War, William MacLean, 63, of 8002 100 street, died Tuesday following a lengthy illness. Native of Ontario, he had resided in Edmonton for the past 35 years.

Coming to Edmonton in 1907, Mr. MacLean entered the lumbering business and for many years was connected with the D. R. Fraser Lumber Co.

At the outbreak of the war, Mr. MacLean joined the 66th Battalion and went overseas. While in France he transferred to the 49th Battalion. On his return from the war he joined the Edmonton police force, remaining with it until 1933 when he was forced to retire due to ill health. He was connected with the South Side branch of the force for several years.

He is survived by his wife; one daughter Gladys, and two sons, Duncan and Hugh, all of Edmonton. Duncan, a constable with the police force here, obtained leave of absence recently to join the R.C.A.F. and he left for the east last week. He returned by plane Wednesday to attend his father's funeral. Mr. MacLean is also survived by two sisters in Scotland.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Thursday from Halnstock and Son's chapel, with Dr. G. A. Macdonald officiating. Interment will be made in the soldiers' plot of the Edmonton cemetery.

Shirley Temple Going To School

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 29.—Shirley Temple started to school yesterday. Heretofore, the 10-year-old screen star has been tutored privately but her mother decided, and Shirley agreed, it was time she began associating more with other girls.

P. B. Baragar Heads Committee To Study British Immigration

Edmonton Chamber of Commerce will appoint a special committee headed by P. B. Baragar to consider possibilities of facilitating British immigration into Canada, in accordance with requests for the appointment of such a committee received from boards of trade in British Columbia. The chamber, at its council meeting Wednesday, reviewed organization problems and plans for the winter season.

LABOR PARTY TO HOLD CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERS

Educational campaign to outline the aims and objects of the Canadian Labor Party and to increase membership for the 1940 activities will be staged by the Edmonton branch of the party, it was decided at a meeting held Tuesday evening at the Labor hall.

Letter of congratulation was sent to the Calgary branch on its achievement in electing two aldermanic and one school board candidate at the recent civic election.

It was decided to send a delegation to the street railway superintendent seeking an improvement in the Calder street service, and representations will be made to the city commissioners regarding condition of sewers in the vicinity of 116 avenue and 124 street.

OLD-TIMERS TO HOLD ROUND-UP HERE THURSDAY

Members of the Northern Alberta Pioneers and Old Timers Association will gather at the Macdonald hotel at 7 p.m. Thursday for their annual banquet and round-up. More than 500 are expected to attend, according to J. A. McCool, secretary.

A bang-up good time is promised for all. The main dining room, the breakfast room and the main corridor have been requisitioned for the event, while two orchestras will dispense dance music and dancing not only in the main dining room, but on the mezzanine floor as well.

His Honor Lieut.-Gov. J. C. Bowen, Premier Aberhart and Mayor John W. Fry, Major General W. A. Griesbach, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., D.C.L., D.L.S., and Harold W. Riley, secretary of the Southern Alberta Pioneers and Old Timers Association, will be among the speakers.

Square and round dances, jigs, reels, fox-trots, waltzes and other dances will hold sway.

Conviction Quashed

Finding there was no evidence to support the conviction the Alberta court of appeal quashed the quashing of conviction registered against Hollis Deaney, Athabaska, by Magistrate J. Mallon on a charge of unlawfully obtaining possession of a boy stud horse. P. G. Davies, Clyde barrister, appeared for the appellant.

MAYNARD GETS HONORS BEFORE RECEIVING K.C.

On the eve of his being called to the inner bar of Alberta, following his appointment as a King's Counsel, Hon. Lucien Maynard, K.C., minister of municipal affairs, was the recipient of a token of esteem from members of the provincial municipal affairs department and debt adjustment board.

Tuesday afternoon members of these two government branches gathered at Mr. Maynard's office in the Administration building and on behalf of his fellow-workers, Alex. Soutter, deputy minister of municipal affairs, presented Mr. Maynard with the accoutrements of a King's Counsel—the silk gown and vest and a crimson bag in which to carry them.

Mr. Maynard expressed his warm appreciation of the thoughtfulness and kindness at the remembrance.

He was admitted to the inner bar before the appellate division of the supreme court of Alberta Wednesday. At the same time Major F. Armour Ford, K.C., and Guy Patterson, K.C., were admitted.

COURT QUASHES TERM GIVEN ON INJURY CHARGE

Holding that the evidence did not disclose that degree of wilfullness that constitutes a crime the Alberta court of appeal Wednesday allowed the appeal of Mitchell Labarge, Camrose, and ordered a four-month sentence imposed on him by Mr. Justice W. C. Ives quashed.

Mr. Labarge was charged with causing grievous bodily harm to Lloy Frith, Edmonton schoolgirl. The charge resulted from an auto accident on the Calgary Trail between 67 and 68 avenues on April 27 last.

Evidence before the court was that Mr. Labarge blew his horn when close to the child, who was riding a bicycle, and that she swerved slightly into the path of his car.

The court held that the appellant may have been to blame for not sounding his horn earlier, but that this was merely an error in judgment, and did not disclose that degree of wilful disregard of the safety of others which would constitute a crime.

Wage Case Fails

Supreme court action brought by Mrs. Mary E. Kelly, Edmonton, as administratrix of the estate of Margaret McPhee, seeking $881 wages allegedly owing by the late John Frederick MacDonald, Edmonton school teacher, was dismissed by Mr. Justice W. C. Ives Tuesday. The action was brought against Alexander L. MacDonald, executor of the estate.

Annual provincial seed fair will be held in this city on January 17 and 18, according to an announcement Wednesday by Hon. D. B. Mullen, minister of agriculture. At the same time the Edmonton district seed fair will be held. Prior to the provincial seed fair, there will be district seed fairs at Lethbridge on Jan. 5 and 6 and Calgary on Jan. 11 and 12. In conjunction with each seed fair, the agriculture department is sponsoring an agricultural short course and will be assisted in these meetings by the local boards of trade.

CROSS ASKED TO PARLEY ON RELIEF ISSUE

Calgary Mayor Suggests Round Table Conference On Problem

CALGARY, Nov. 29.—A round table conference of representatives from Alberta urban and rural municipalities with Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, provincial minister in charge of relief, was suggested to Dr. Cross today by Mayor Andrew Davison.

Purpose of the conference would be to examine relations between the provincial relief department and municipal representatives with a view to adopting some procedure which would, in future, reduce to a minimum misunderstandings and bickerings.

Today Mayor Davison received a letter from Dr. Cross claiming that his department had never made a ruling compelling physically fit men to enlist by refusing them relief.

In his letter of reply, the Mayor reiterated his belief that certain permanent provincial relief officials were developing an autocratic complex with the idea that they were superior to the elected representatives of the people.

He proceeded to suggest that a conference be called to examine the situation.

Mackenzie Denies Bureaucracy Charge

Refuting continued attacks upon the provincial relief administration by Mayor Andrew Davison of Calgary, A. A. Mackenzie, chairman of the Alberta Bureau of Relief and Public Welfare, Wednesday declared that the relief branch has not adopted bureaucratic tactics nor an arbitrary stand in dealing with ...

Mayor Davison, who opened ... administration at a Calgary council meeting Monday continued them Tuesday in an address in his home city. He charged that a "bureaucracy" of provincial officials interferes with administration of relief funds by city ...

"The cities are always given the privilege of presenting their cases to us for adjustment, if they think such adjustment is needed," said Mr. Mackenzie.

Denying Mayor Davison's allegation that the present provincial government unemployment relief act "removed from its shoulders the obligation of caring for transient families," Mr. Mackenzie declared the government is still "looking after 350 transient families in Calgary and about the same number in Edmonton. These are families which have lived in these cities less than 12 months and thus have not yet become statutory residents there."

He said that the province looks after several hundred single persons in Alberta.

"... town or city in the province ... that matter ... are those who have established statutory residence there."

The province, he said, had ... no discrimination against those ... relief who had not enlisted

TODAY'S MARKETS

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO, Nov. 29—Selective action in industrials and golds gave Toronto stock market a firm to strong appearance at intervals today but profit taking trimmed the gains.

Preston Gold advanced to a new high price at 2.23 and closed around 2.24 for a net gain of 4. Buffalo Ankerite, Sylvanite, Perron, Ker Addison and Pamour [illegible] narrow.

[illegible] Haybob advanced [illegible]. The close was up slightly for Malartic Gold Fields, Oro Plata and Paymaster. The shares of Stadacona were barred from trading today pending an investigation into the company's affairs. It closed yesterday at 16.

C.P.R. was lifted ⅜ to 6¼.

Home Oil advanced 8 and narrow gains appeared for Anglo-Canadian and Calgary-Edmonton. Okalta weakened a cent.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—Leadership of the steels and motors failed to hold the stock market in a rallying attempt today and the list slipped after some issues had gained fractions to around 2 points.

Narrow to lower were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Boeing, Westinghouse Electric, American Telephone and Goodrich.

More resistant were American Smelting, Philip Morris and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Chrysler, up around two at one time, fell back.

Broomhall

British government buying orders for seven million bushels of Canadian wheat yesterday resulted in an advance of 2¼ cents in Dec. wheat at Winnipeg. The short haul from the St. Lawrence gulf to Great Britain is now attractive and is working against the Argentine shipper. England took three cargoes American corn at an approximate price of 73c c.i.f. England. Spain bought a substantial quantity of Argentine wheat which will be shipped immediately. Wheat board is anxious to dispose of this wheat before the new crops arrive. Although prices were lower in the Argentine yesterday, the undertone was steady and our agent reported further damage by rain last night. The success of the German magnetic mines for the time being has shaken the confidence of exporters and few offers are being made for shipment. It is reported that the freight rate to England is 17c and to neutral countries about 30c. War risk insurance is extra. The freight rates from Atlantic ports have advanced and Antwerp had to pay 40 and 45c for 100 pounds from New York for twelve loads yesterday. That is 24 and 27c a bushel. A mixed cargo of No. 1 Manitoba wheat and rye was sold out of Albany on Monday.

Alberta Oils

CALGARY, Nov. 29—Climbing three points to 2.43, Home featured trading [illegible]. It was the only stock to move more than ½ point either way as the market maintained a steady trend.

Turnover was improved, with 19,460 shares trading.

LORD MARLEY HAS PLAN TO AID REFUGEES

MONTREAL, Nov. 29.—European refugees might be trained for jobs in Canada for which there is a shortage of labor, Lord Marley, deputy speaker in the British House of Lords, said here Tuesday.

If there were a shortage of any type of labor in Canada, refugees could be trained and then brought to the Dominion with guarantees of competence, he told the Women's Canadian Club here.

Lord Marley said thousands of refugees are in England at present, many are without means of support. About 20,000 had been permanently settled and employed in new industries which also had given jobs to about 25,000 jobless British workers, he added.

KING OPENS NEW OTTAWA POST OFFICE

OTTAWA, Nov. 29. — Prime Minister Mackenzie King Tuesday opened Ottawa's new $1,000,000 central post office with a golden key, bought the first stamp and posted the first letter, which was addressed to Rt. Hon. Sir William Mulock, Toronto, his oldest and closest friend.

Mr. Mulock, 95-year-old former chief justice of Ontario, was post-master-general from 1896 to 1905.

Finland Has Army Of 400,000 Troops Ready For Defence

HELSINGFORS, Nov. 29.—It was estimated Finland has 400,000 men, including reserves and regular troops, ready to defend the nation should present difficulties with Russia flare into open warfare. This figure represents more than one-tenth of the population of the republic, which has been partially mobilized since the crisis developed.

Civilians have been removed from many frontier districts and cities to rural areas as precautionary measures.

"We are not afraid," was the theme of comment last night on Helsingfors' partially blacked-out streets.

The Finns have insisted in the face of the increasingly threatening attitude of the Moscow press that the Russians were "just talking."

In her original proposals, which followed acquisition of similar concessions in Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia, Russia asked for Finland:

1—A lease of a small section of Finnish territory near the entrance of the Gulf of Finland—for military purposes.

2—Title to some small islands in the Gulf of Finland.

3—A strip of the Karelian Isthmus north of Leningrad.

4—Portions of the Rybachi peninsula on the Arctic ocean.

In exchange, Finland was offered a portion of Soviet Karelia twice the size of the Finnish territory requested. Russia also offered to withdraw objections to fortification of the Aaland Islands in the Gulf of Bothnia, if the fortifying was done by Finland alone, and demilitarization of the Finnish-Soviet border.

Finland announced she had gone more than half-way in accepting the proposals but that to go all the way would cut her off from the Arctic and seriously affect her status in the Baltic.

Canadian Overseas Units Will Retain Identity in Action

OTTAWA, Nov. 29.—Decision of the government to build the Canadian Active Service Force within the framework of existing permanent and non-permanent militia units has proved of considerable psychological advantage in formation of Canada's new army, military experts in the capital agree.

When Canada sent a force overseas in the first Great War, its organization cut sharply through the existing units. Entirely new battalions were formed and sent overseas for training. Officers and non-commissioned officers of both permanent and non-permanent militia units flocked to the new overseas battalions and left their own units denuded of officers.

When the Canadian Expeditionary Force reached Great Britain, more than 200 battalions were split apart, reformed into reinforcements for other units before they reached the firing line.

This time Canadian soldiers with a natural pride in the "outfit" they enlisted with, know their unit will retain its identity. Furthermore, it will be trained in Canada, led by fellow-Canadians, and will fight overseas as a Canadian unit in a Canadian division.

Permanent and non-permanent units throughout the two divisions of the C.A.S.F. will remain separate entities, though working side by side, whether fighting overseas, manning Canada's coastal defences or guarding vital points against possible sabotage.

Men of the permanent force, professional soldiers long used to army discipline and experienced in the art of warfare, will go into the war led by officers of their own type, men who, like them, have long since graduated from the ABC's of soldiering and are hardened campaigners. Thus both officers and men speak a common language and share the philosophy and temperament of the professional soldier.

KEEP WITH SAME TYPE

Similarly, the amateur soldiers of peacetime non-permanent militia units, and likewise the men who have enlisted since the outbreak of war, will learn the fighting business side by side and with the understanding of fellow-students. Their officers will be amateurs, too.

Senator W. A. Griesbach, himself a brigadier-general, declared at the special war session of parliament: "The non-professional soldier is best led and directed by the non-professional officer. That is easy enough to understand. The non-professional soldier is taken from civilian life. He is taught as much as you can teach him, but he has to be handled in a certain fashion, and the knowledge of how to handle him is possessed in larger measure by the officer of his own type than by the professional soldier."

TOTAL OF 43 GERMAN SUBS GO TO BOTTOM

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Informed French and Dutch naval sources Tuesday estimated a total of 43 German submarines have been sunk since the beginning of the war Sept. 3.

Thirty-three of these were attributed to British action while a French naval source said the French navy had sunk about 10 more.

Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, told the House of Commons November 8 Germany had about 60 submarines ready for action when war broke out, but that more were being built.

13 Killed When British Vessel Hits Mine, Sinks

LONDON, Nov. 29.—The British steamer Rubislaw, 1,041 tons, struck a mine and sank off the southeast coast of England yesterday. Thirteen members of the crew were killed and four survivors were picked up by a minesweeper. The Rubislaw sank within two minutes after striking the mine off an English port, survivors said.

All Germans In Rumania Asked To Send Food

BUCHAREST, Nov. 29—All German nationals living in Rumania were asked by the Nazi party today to send identical packages of food and other supplies to "friends and acquaintances in the Reich."

A typical prescribed package was to consist of coffee, tea, chocolate, table oil, ham, lard, powdered milk, and fat. Another model package contained various kinds of soap, for toilet uses, for laundry, and for shaving.

NO POOL FOR COARSE GRAIN FOR PRESENT

Government Guarantees Are Not High Enough, Pool Decides

CALGARY, Nov. 29.—"Our country is now engaged in what may be a death struggle between the forces of democracy and the forces of dictatorship. If democracy is vanquished then co-operation is doomed," said Lew Hutchinson, chairman, Alberta Wheat Pool, Tuesday before the 17th annual meeting of delegates.

The board of directors reported it had decided to operate a coarse grains pool under the Agricultural Products Co-operative Marketing Act provided the government would guarantee a satisfactory initial payment for coarse grains.

It was learned that the government was prepared to make the following guarantees, basis Fort William: Oats 26 cents per bushel basis 2 C.W., barley 32 cents per bushel basis 2 C.W. 6 row, flax $1.25 per bushel, basis 1 C.W. and rye, 36 cents per bushel, basis 2 C.W.

As it was decided that these prices were not high enough to induce a sufficiently large percentage of growers to deliver their coarse grains on a pooling basis, the board decided against attempting to operate under the act immediately.

Old Guard to Give New Forty-Niners Rousing Send-Off

In one of the most unique and colorful military ceremonies ever staged in Canada, "Old Sweats" of Edmonton's Own, the 49th Battalion Association, composed of members of the regiment which made more than a passing name for itself in the first World War, will give a "send-off" to the "Young Battalion" of the regiment which will carry the traditions of the Old Guard into the present conflict. The "send off" will be staged on Sunday next, December 3, at 11 a.m. when the old 49th and today's battalion will parade.

It was the intention of the 49th Battalion Association originally to have the send-off take the shape of a "smoker," but as this is now found impossible, Sunday's ceremonies have been substituted.

Under the new scheme the 49th Battalion Association, wearing armbands and berets, and medals worn on the overcoat, will parade on the Market Square at 11 a.m. Sunday. A color party, provided by the young battalion, will parade with the veterans, and brass and pipe bands of the perpetuating unit and the trumpet band of the Canadian Corps Association will also attend.

PARADE TO ARMORY

From the Market Square the parade will move off to the Prince of Wales armory where the young battalion will be paraded, and at 12 noon both the old and the young battalions will be drawn up facing each other.

As senior officer and president of the 49th Battalion Association, Major Gen. W. A. Greisbach, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., V.D., K.C., will deliver an address and on behalf of the veterans will present to the young battalion a cheque and two silver cups for the promotion of rifle shooting and baseball. The Old Guard will give three cheers for the "49th of Today," which will be responded to by the cheers of the young battalion for the veterans.

To the strains of "Bonnie Dundee," regimental march of the 49th Battalion the Old Guard will march off the parade grounds and be dismissed.

Following the parade the young battalion will entertain the old battalion at mid-day dinner at the barracks, opposite companies in the young battalion acting as hosts to their opposite numbers in the old battalion, following which the troops will fraternize "on their own."

COME OUT AND MEET THEM

Members of the 49th Battalion Association are sparing no efforts to make the occasion a "stand-out" and all ex-members of the battalion are urged to attend the parade to bid God speed and good luck to their military sons.

Arrangements have been made to hold the ceremonies in the armory in the event of inclement weather, but should fine weather prevail they will take place in the barracks square facing the Prince of Wales armory.

Will Speak

MAJOR. GEN. W. A. GRIESBACH
President of the 49th Battalion Association, who will speak at the Prince of Wales Armoury next Sunday when the association will give the "Young Battalion" a rousing send-off.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

Resolution recently passed by the Hamilton, Ont., Trades and Labor Council that "Communists be kept out of municipal affairs in that city" prompted the Inquiring Reporter to seek opinions on this subject. The following are the replies:

THE ANSWERS

W. "PADDY" GRIFFIN, executive, Canadian Legion: None knows better than trade unionists the methods and influence of Communists in "boring from within" by glib-tongued agitators. Trade unions are better off without them, and municipal councils would not suffer by their absence.

FRED ALLSOP, carpenter: I would not bar Communists from entering the municipal election field, but I would insist they run under their true colors and that candidates from this party be made to declare where they stand with regard to the British Commonwealth of Nations in its efforts successfully to prosecute a war which has been forced upon it and in which democracy is at stake.

HARRY OLIVER, accountant: It is a good suggestion. I favor letting them seek election, but definitely as Communists. It has become a cunning habit of "Red" candidates to masquerade under the auspices of some organization not known to have a "Red" tinge, thus fooling the electors.

SMALL NUMBER IS UNFIT FOR WAR SERVICE

Medical Tests Given Troops Here—38 Are Found Under Age

Completion of the second medical examination of soldiers of the Edmonton Garrison was announced Wednesday by Lieut.-Col. E. Brown, M.M., Garrison commandant. This examination was given to study effects of soldiering on the men and to insure that all men remaining with their units were in first-class physical condition.

Col. Brown said that only a small percentage of rejections had been recorded by the medical boards on the ground that men were unfit for overseas service.

DEPOT UNITS

The men found unfit are not being discharged, but are being posted to depot units, as many of them likely will have reached the necessary stage of physical fitness in a short time.

The Edmonton Regiment has a depot here, as has the artillery. Engineers have a depot at Calgary.

Col. Brown declared that, in accordance with the regulation that soldiers under 19 years are not permitted to go overseas, 38 soldiers of the Edmonton Regiment who are over 18—the required enlistment age—but not yet 19, were being transferred to the regimental depot. They will be able to go forward to the regiment on attaining the age requirement. A few men from other units were found not yet 19.

Troops of the Garrison were treated by injection, against tetanus on Tuesday. This was confined to those units posted to the 1st Division. With treatment being given, training was interrupted, but will be intensified as the men recover from the effects of this injection.

RECRUITING

Recruiting is still proceeding for French-Canadians desiring to join the 22nd Royal Quebec Regiment, the perpetuating unit of the famous 22nd Battalion, which served in the 5th Brigade of the 2nd Canadian Division in the Great War. A quota of 100 has been allowed Alberta for this regiment and there are some vacancies left. Recruiting is being carried on through the depot of the Edmonton Regiment. About 60 per cent. of the Alberta quota has been filled.

$100 FINE IS ADDED TO TERM ROBBERY COUNT

Alberta's court of appeal Wednesday added a $100 fine to the one-year sentence imposed on Leonard George, Killam, by Magistrate Jackson on a charge of robbery with violence. George had appealed against conviction and sentence.

George was charged with taking $50 from a man named Hoffman by violence. It was intimated to the court that Hoffman owed this amount to the appellant, and that the latter had been unable to collect the debt and had taken this means of making the collection.

Counsel for appellant cited several English cases in which creditors had taken by force amounts owing them in which the British courts held there was no felonious intent. The appeal court held there was no relevance between the British cases and the case before the court.

Freed Tuesday afternoon when a new trial was ordered on charges of living off the avails and keeping a bawdy house preferred against him by city police, James Graham, of Edmonton, was re-arrested by city police Tuesday evening. Wednesday he appeared in court again and protested against his re-arrest. The court ordered Crown Prosecutor J. W. McClung to arrange bail.

Some School Children Refuse To Salute Flag Trustees Are Informed

Some children in Edmonton's public schools, on instructions from their parents, have refused to salute the flag and recite the pledge, "I salute the flag, the emblem of our country, and to her I pledge my love and loyalty," it was disclosed in a report made by Superintendent G. A. McKee, O.B.E., to members of the school board Tuesday.

Mr. McKee informed the members that the parents of the children were just as loyal as any Canadian subject, but objection was taken on religious grounds. He did not know the name of the religious sect.

The report was submitted in reply to a query by Trustee Mrs. W. J. Ross as to the number of schools in which patriotic exercises were practiced.

The report which recommended flag display in school rooms, corridors and assembly halls, and the practice of flag-saluting in schools occasionally at the discretion of the principal and staff was received as information, no action being taken by the board.

In a total of 325 elementary and intermediate school rooms, the report continues, there are 33 rooms at present without flags. Some of the missing flags were taken out for other uses and never replaced; some became very dusty and in the attempt to clean them they were spoiled; some of the rooms without flags are new rooms.

RULE NOT OBSERVED

The report stated that the regulation calling for a flag in each room never had been definitely applied to high schools. There is in all these schools fitting displays of flags draped around portraits of the King or group picture of the Royal family in assembly rooms or halls.

All schools have their flags for display outside which are flown on special occasions. The ideal arrangement, the report continues, is at Garneau school. There is a flag pole at the northeast corner of these grounds which is raised on the pole each morning by pupils and flies during the school session. There is also the flag on the building which is flown only on special occasions.

Dealing with the situation arising out of refusal of children to salute the flag the report continues: "When such children decline in the presence of their companions, a delicate situation arises. The children themselves are embarrassed; their companions do not know what to make of their action; and the teacher is powerless. Consequently the exercise is marred."

The report cites a test case in American courts in which the court found that a school child had the right to refuse to salute the flag on religious grounds.

TEST CASE IN COURT

The test case arose following the expulsion from a school of pupils for refusal to salute the flag. Mr. McKee expressed the opinion that Canadian courts would give a similar decision if such a case were presented to them.

There is no regulation of the board requiring the saluting of the flag, the report pointed out. The consensus of opinion among the teachers seems to be that there should be no rigid regulation in respect to this practice.

The report suggests that a desirable practice of patriotic exercises might be as follows: In the elementary and intermediate schools flags be displayed in each room with flags in the corridors or assembly halls draping the portrait of the King or Royal Family. In high schools the placing of flags in corridors or assembly rooms draping portrait of the King or Royal Family.

NO RIGID REGULATION

The practice recommended for flag salute would be that there would be no rigid regulation. The use of the exercise would be left to the judgment of the principal and staff with the suggestion that it be used occasionally either in the individual classroom or with the school assembly in a body if no difficulty is likely to arise.

5 WOULD KILL

By Tom Hornor

CAST OF CHARACTERS

ARNOLD BENTHORNE. Five persons wished him dead

HELEN BENTHORNE his charming young wife

WILLIAM ALSTON, Benthorne's father-in-law and business associate

JOEY DI TORRO, night club owner and gangster

ARA JOHNSON, the mystery girl

JOHN DOUGLAS, a young mining engineer, in love with Ara

CAPTAIN DAWSON, a detective who likes to listen.

Yesterday: Douglas pleads for a chance to talk to Ara alone. When Dawson arranges it, Douglas shows the girl a button from her dress. "I found it in Benthorne's study. Were you there?" She admits she was. Benthorne but insists it was early in the evening, long before he was killed.

CHAPTER XI

HELEN BENTHORNE led Dawson toward the back stairs.

"You asked how my father got into the house," she said, pointing to the doorway across the kitchen. "He came in there, ran Jamison in this hallway, and then came up the stairs to the left. Jamison's quarters open off the kitchen to the right."

Dawson glanced backward for a moment. On the other side of the swinging door he had just passed through was the dining room and beyond that the study. If a man hurried—ran—

He followed Mrs. Benthorne up the stairs. "Here is the landing where father paused to catch his breath—" Noting Dawson's quizzical look, she added: "Oh, yes, Captain. I forgot to tell you. I talked to Father after he had seen you. He told me all that he had said." She hurried on, her black gown swishing about her trim ankles.

Dawson hesitated as he reached the top of the stairs, eyed a small door recessed in the wall. "The clothes chute." Helen Benthorne explained. "A most convenient place to hide a gun."

"I'd thought of that already, Mrs. Benthorne." Dawson smiled. "Krone emptied it fully two hours ago."

"Do you really think you'll find that gun here in the house, Captain?" Helen Benthorne seemed amused at the thought. "I should think you'd be searching the grounds. Undoubtedly the murderer of my husband went out the window. While you waste time here, he's probably miles away."

"Mr. Benthorne had many enemies?"

"Arnold had no friends." She opened a door. "This is the guest room"—and nodding at the figure on the rumpled bed, . . . "My father is sleeping. . . . Poor Dad!"

The detective pushed past her, through the doorway. He took in the disarray of the room, the spread tossed back over the foot of the bed; the muddy shoes, side by side, the black raincoat in a heap on the floor; the hat on the highboy, and the little line of water down the front of the drawers; the figure of Alston, stretched full length upon the bed, face down, outlined under the blanket. The man's breathing was steady, unnaturally loud.

"The sleeping pills," Mrs. Benthorne explained. "Must you disturb him now? This has been an ordeal for him. Won't you let him sleep and come back later?"

Dawson nodded, backed slowly from the room. Alston stirred slightly, then relaxed again, resuming his quiet snoring. Dawson turned to Mrs. Benthorne's suite.

Twenty minutes later he was ready to admit that if Helen Benthorne had ever kept a revolver hidden in her room, she had left no trace of it. There was no tell-tale outline on the dainty underthings' closets, filled with hundreds of dollars of costly dresses and coats yielded no clews. Each garment was hung neatly upon a satin-padded wooden hanger—to hold the shoulders in shape, Dawson decided—and at the end of each rack were more hangers awaiting this season's frocks.

Mrs. Benthorne sat beside the window, nervously cutting an envelope to pieces with a small gold scissors. She did not miss Dawson's approving glance at the padded hangers.

"Arnold called those my pet extravagance" she said, nodding toward the closet.

"The gowns? They must have cost a small fortune," Dawson agreed.

"No the hangers I insisted upon them, but Arnold could never see why the ordinary wire kind—those the cleaners always send back—weren't just as good. He owned one of the companies that makes those—the wire ones, I mean."

The detective nodded, and went on with his search. Once he paused as if listening. "Is this room directly over Mr. Benthorne's study?" he asked.

Benthorne's widow shook her head. "I wish it were," she replied. "I might have been able to hear last night. Mr. Benthorne's room is above the study. Do you want to look around my husband's room?"

"Not right away," Dawson said. "I'll have to awaken your father now. Or would you rather?"

Helen Benthorne led the way. There was a queenly pride in her erect carriage, a calm defiance in her manner that easily explained Arnold Benthorne's longing to have this woman for his wife, and to take any means to force her into that marriage. Helen Benthorne was an aristocrat, Dawson knew, and her mannerisms never allowed anyone to forget it. She opened the door to the guest room gently, then threw it wide with a crash.

"My father is gone!" she screamed. Dawson darted into the room.

It was true. The bed was empty, the covers thrown back. The shoes were still there, neatly placed side by side, half under the bed.

Dawson rushed to the head of the front staircase, searched the hallway and entrance beneath.

"Krone! Krone!" he shouted, and as the patrolmen rushed through the half-open front door, "watch this stairway and the hall there. Stop everyone. I'm coming down the back way."

Douglas and Ara were still at the table when Dawson pushed through the swinging door. "Anyone go through here in the last 20 minutes?"

"Not a soul, Captain," Douglas answered. "What's the matter now?" But Dawson had hurried on.

The detective bumped into Krone a second later at the door of the study. "What is it, Captain?"

"Alston—he's disappeared."

"But he was upstairs, sleeping."

"Yes—yes—I saw him not 20 minutes ago, sound asleep. But he's not there now. Did you see him come down the stairs?"

"I'd just stepped outside with Joey for a smoke—I'd have heard him—"

"He left his shoes by the bed—What were you doing outside?" Dawson thundered. "Search the house. Call in a couple of those men on duty in front—get me a dozen more. Where's Flynn? What—" The words died in his throat.

"Were you looking for me, Captain Dawson?" The door of Benthorne's private hallway to the street opened and Alston emerged from the long corridor. The detective stared at him, open-mouthed.

"I awakened suddenly, with an idea," Alston explained. "I came down quietly, and I think I found something you'll want to see." He handed the detective a smudged, water-stained cigarette, half burned and crushed. "Most interesting," he went on slowly, his breath rasping in his throat.
